Ballads of the English Border

By
ALGERNON CHARLES SWINBURNE
With an Introduction by WILLIAM A. MACHESON, M.A.

This is a complete collection of all that is extant of Swinburne's work in Border Balladry. The poems fall into three classes. In the first are included the ballads which he "re-set" mainly by interpolation from different texts, reconstructing, as far as possible, a trustworthy version of each ballad story. The second group consists of ballads in which the poet has treated a favourite Border theme in his own way, without quotation from any anterior version. In such work Swinburne has carried the difficult art of successful pastiche to perfection. The ballads of the third group, representing a later phase, are more modern in subject and Pre-Raphaelite in feeling. Some of these poems have never previously been printed, others have appeared in a private edition limited to a score of copies.

1771-1832 was a prolific Scottish historical novelist and poet popular throughout Europe during his time. In some ways Scott was the first author to have a truly international career in his lifetime with many contemporary readers all over Europe, Australia, and North America. His novels and poetry are still read, and many of his works remain classics of both English language literature and specifically Scottish literature. Famous titles include Ivanhoe, The Lady of the Lake, and Waverley. At the age of 25, he began dabbling in writing, translating works from German, his first publication being rhymed versions of ballads by Brger in 1796. He then published a three-volume set of collected Scottish ballads, The Minstrelsy of the Scottish Border. This was the first sign of his interest in Scottish history from a literary standpoint. Amongst his other works are Marmion (1808), The Heart of Mid Lothian (1818), Rob Roy (1818), The Bride of Lammermoor (1819), The Fortunes of Nigel (1822), St Ronan's Well (1823), The Betrothed (1825), Kenilworth (1821), The Mirror and Quentin Durward.

Marsden sets the 16 major historical ballads against the documentary records of the events that inspired them and the social history of the border between England and Scotland in the 16th century. Nic Borlow provides the evocative color photographs. A beautiful production. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc, Portland, OR.
