

New Year's Eve

Countdown Balloons Instructions

You will need

- balloons
- paper
- pen
- scissors
- weights (nights or fireworks)
- permanent marker pen
- Countdown Clocks, printed (optional)
- marking line, string or similar
- tape
- glue or staples (optional)

Instructions

- 1 Gather enough balloons to last the evening, depending on how long you would like your party to be. For example, if your party starts at 8pm and you would like your children to last until midnight, you'll need around six balloons. If you would like them to go to bed at 10pm and have a 'jolly' midnight, you would need around four balloons. You could also do some activities earlier and plan out a whole day of celebrating and getting ready for the party.
- 2 For each balloon, write out an activity like (see below) onto a strip of paper and roll it so that you can slip it inside the balloon. You may wish to write it on a sticky note or piece of shiny paper so that you can label the outside of the balloon and not forget which is which.
- 3 Add weights to the inside of each balloon.
- 4 Blow up the balloons and tie them with the activity and weight inside.

- 1 Print enough Countdown Clocks (optional) so that you have one for each balloon.
- 2 Draw hands onto the Countdown Clocks - these could be on the hour (100pm, 110pm, 120pm, etc) or minutes (time to keep children on their toes (6:45pm, 7:00pm, 7:15pm, 8:30pm, etc).
- 3 If you would prefer, you can draw your own countdown clock onto the balloons using permanent marker pen.
- 4 Hangs length of marking line, string or similar in your party area.
- 5 Use tape to hang each balloon in sequence along the line.
- 6 As each time occurs, encourage your child to carefully pop the balloon (with a pin or similar) and find the activity inside. That's the activity you'll do until you reach the time shown on the next balloon!

colour of skin disability ethnicity gender legal status nationality origin race religion and belief sex and sexual orientation Youth leaders and human rights activists turned to the Council of Europe the guardian of human rights in Europe for responses support and in particular what the youth sector could propose A consultation with youth workers and specialists in human rights education concluded that part of the response has to be educational The rise of populist nationalist and xenophobic ideas and discourse must also be countered through democratic citizenship and human rights education including anti racism education and intercultural learning Education remains an important antidote to racism and prejudice This manual was originally produced in 1995 for the European youth campaign against racism antisemitism xenophobia and intolerance It has been updated and extended to reflect the kaleidoscope of racial discrimination in Europe today and the mutations of racist discourses and ideologies It contains basic information and hands on non formal education methodologies for supporting young people in learning about and addressing prejudice and its impact on people and societies Education Pack "all different - all equal" 2021 Rui Gomes, Anca-Ruxandra Pandeia, Patricia Brander, Laure de Witte, Gavan Titley, 2021-11-22 It is easy to say I have no prejudices I m not racist so it has nothing to do with me I didn t invite those refugees It is hard to say I may not be to blame for what happened in the past but I want to take responsibility for making sure it doesn t continue in the future The Education Pack all different all equal was originally produced in 1995 as an educational resource for the European youth campaign against racism antisemitism xenophobia and intolerance Soon after its publication it became a reference work for those involved in intercultural education and training with young people across Europe and beyond Translated into many languages it remains today one of the most successful and most sought after publications of the Council of Europe The usefulness of the pack stems from the variety and creativity of the methodologies proposed More than twenty years after the all different all equal campaign the role plays simulation exercises case studies and cooperative group work that it proposes remain an inspiration to many youth workers trainers teachers and other people actively involved in intercultural education European societies continue to suffer from a growth of racist hostility and intolerance towards minorities and foreigners the necessity for intercultural youth work remains undiminished and the relevance of this pack remains unquestionable Little bit has been changed in this new edition of the pack apart from an updating of references Most changes are visible and usable only in the online version which offers relevant links with other resources for human rights education which continue the legacy of the campaign equality in dignity and rights respect for broader appreciation of diversity Brain-Compatible Activities for Mathematics, Grades 4-5 David A. Sousa, 2009-12-10 Aligned with NCTM standards and focal points this resource offers ready to use lessons that include brain compatible math activities step by step instructions for the teacher and all the necessary reproducibles Education Pack Patricia Brander, Council of Europe, 2016 It is easy to say I have no prejudices I m not racist so it has nothing to do with me I didn t invite those refugees It is hard to say I may not be to blame for what happened in the past but I want to take responsibility for making sure it doesn't continue in the future. The Education Pack, all different all equal, was originally produced in 1995 as an educational resource for the European youth campaign against racism, antisemitism, xenophobia, and intolerance. Soon after its publication, it became a reference work for those involved in intercultural education and training with young people across Europe and beyond. Translated into many languages, it remains today one of the most successful and most sought-after publications of the Council of Europe. The usefulness of the pack stems from the variety and creativity of the methodologies proposed. More than twenty years after the all different all equal campaign, the role plays, simulation exercises, case studies, and cooperative group work that it proposes remain an inspiration to many youth workers, trainers, teachers, and other people actively involved in intercultural education. European societies continue to suffer from a growth of racist hostility and intolerance towards minorities and foreigners; the necessity for intercultural youth work remains undiminished, and the relevance of this pack remains unquestionable. Little bit has been changed in this new edition of the pack, apart from an updating of references. Most changes are visible and usable only in the online version, which offers relevant links with other resources for human rights education, which continue the legacy of the campaign: equality in dignity and rights, respect for broader appreciation of diversity.
