

Capt. Safford Dies Cryptographer for Navy

By RICHARD M. LUSSEN

Special Staff Writer
Retired Navy Capt. Laurance F. Safford, 79, whose many cryptographs to inventors included one that is regarded as the prototype of all subsequent writing devices of its type, died Tuesday in Bethesda Naval Hospital.

CAPT. LAURANCE F. SAFFORD

Capt. Safford was an important witness before the congressional Pearl Harbor investigation committee here after the end of World War II. He was the only witness to say definitely that a Japanese "winds" code message was received and gave an advance tip on the attack.

In 1958 President Eisenhower signed a bill to reward Capt. Safford with $50,000 for some 20 cryptologic inventions he developed between 1936 and 1953. He noted in passing that Capt. Safford was unable to apply for secrecy and that his work was unrewarded.

"In fact you might say he had a passion for anonymity."

Capt. Safford was a naval communications intelligence officer in 1941 when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

He told the Pearl Harbor committee that the "winds" message was intercepted and translated here on Dec. 4, three days before the Pearl Harbor attack. "It meant war and we knew it meant war," he told the committee.

CAPT. SAFFORD was born in Somerville, Mass. He was a 1918 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, the U.S. Navy Academy, and a cryptographic work by Safford was placed in the newly created research desk in the code and signal office of Naval Communications.

In anticipation of U.S. entry into the war, he greatly expanded the communication intelligence and had it on a war footing prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Capt. Safford concentrated on the problem of high direction finders—in which the Navy was extremely deficient even in 1936—and by the time of the attack had established strategically located stations with trained crews that were tracking German submarines in the Atlantic and Japanese vessels in the Pacific.

IN 1942 he became assistant director of Naval Communications for cryptologic research. Seven years later he began a two-year assignment as special assistant to the director of the Armed Forces Security Agency. He retired in 1953.
