Coercion Autonomy Philosophical Foundations Issues Practices:

Coercion and Autonomy Allen Rosenbaum, 1986-10-08 Few subjects in contemporary philosophical and political debate are more cloaked in ambiguity than the issue of coercion whether on an individual or global scale or in areas as diverse as family relations employment and international finance In this first full length treatment of the topic Professor Rosenbaum carefully reviews previous thinking on this question and develops a persuasive original theory focusing on the conceptual relationship between human social autonomy and coercion

The Philosophy of Law Christopher Berry Grey, 2013-07-04 From articles centering on the detailed and doctrinal exposition of the law to those which reside almost wholly within the realm of philosophical ethics this volume affords comprehensive treatment to both sides of the philosophico legal equation Systematic and sustained coverage of the many dimensions of legal thought gives ample expression to the true breadth and depth of the philosophy of law with coverage of The modes of knowing and the kinds of normativity used in the law Studies in international constitutional criminal administrative persons and property contracts and tort law including their historical origins and worldwide ramifications Current legal cultures such as common law and civilian European and Aboriginal Influential jurists and their biographies All influential schools and methods

Nonviolent Action Ronald M. McCarthy, Gene Sharp, Brad Bennett, 2013-07-04 This comprehensive guide to research sources and theories about nonviolent action as a technique of struggle in social and political conflicts discusses the methods and techniques used by groups in various encounters Although violence and its causes have received a great deal of attention nonviolent action has not received its due as an international phenomenon with a long history An introduction that explains the theories and research used in the study provides a practical guide to this essential bibliography of English language sources The first part of the book covers case study materials divided by region and subdivided by country Within each country materials are arranged chronologically and topically The second major part examines the methods and theory of nonviolent action principled nonviolence and several closely related areas in social science such as conflict analysis and social movements The book is indexed by author and subject

A Fictive People Ronald J. Zboray, 1993-01-28 This book explores an important boundary between history and literature the antebellum reading public for books written by Americans Zboray describes how fiction took root in the United States and what literature contributed to the readers sense of themselves He traces the rise of fiction as a social history centered on the book trade and chronicles the large societal changes shaping circumscribing and sometimes defining the limits of the antebellum reading public A Fictive People explodes two notions that are commonplace in cultural histories of the nineteenth century first that the spread of literature was a simple force for the democratization of taste and second that there was a body of nineteenth century literature that reflected a nation of readers Zboray shows that the output of the press was so diverse and the public so indiscriminate in what it would read that we must rethink these conclusions The essential elements for the rise of publishing turn out not to be the usual suspects of rising literacy and increased schooling Zboray turns our attention to the railroad as well as private letter writing to see the creation of a national taste for literature He points out the ambiguous role of the nineteenth century school in encouraging reading and convincingly demonstrates that we must look more deeply to see why the nation turned to literature He uses such data as sales figures and library borrowing to reveal that women read as widely as men and that the regional breakdown of sales focused the power of print U.C. Davis Law Review University of California, Davis. School of Law,2006 The Philosopher's Index ,2008 Vols for 1969 include a section of abstracts The Journal of Philosophy ,1987 The Philosophical Review ,1987 Journal of Applied Rehabilitation Counseling ,2004 Contractarian Liberal Ethics and the Theory of Rational Choice Jung Soon Park,1992 This book investigates the relationship between morality and rationality in the context of historical and present day contractarian ethics From Rawls to Gauthier contractarians have attempted to construct their methodological foundations on the theory of rational choice Through a careful study of the nature and limits of the theory of rational choice Jung Soon Park argues that the theory cannot provide the reliable foundations for contractarian liberal ethics Consequently the author takes seriously the question about the future of contractarian liberal ethics Is it the end or can there be a transformation Journal of the History of Philosophy ,1987

The Dynamics of Knowledge David Rich,1988-08-24 As scientific discoveries and technological advances continue to modify our perceptions of reality at an unprecedented rate the traditional frameworks for understanding and organizing our experience of truth and Knowledge have become less and less adequate David Rich comes to grips with this problem in his innovative study which shows how both knowledge and truth are conditioned by experience and explores the dynamics of creativity that generate knowledge Being and Becoming F. F. Centore,1991-01-30 Contemporary society according to F F Centore is dominated by a post modern philosophical world view Therefore he argues it behooves the educated individual to know what this perspective means where it came from and where it is taking humankind Lacking until now from the many works that have been written on post modernism is one that scrutinizes its fundamental assumptions and presuppositions Being and Becoming fills this need by synthesizing the key developments in contemporary post modernism By taking the reader through the various historical periods and developments which have led to the current situation Centore shows how that which is now taken for granted by the vast majority of people is not necessary for either philosophical or theological reasons Moreover he shows that post modernism is not required as the rational foundation for personal freedom privacy and creativity Centore offers an alternative solution to the basic problems that lie at the root of post modern philosophy The comprehensive rational and scientific approach that he advocates would he argues render post modernism irrelevant and unnecessary Our intellectual and social political life would be much better without post modern doctrine and with a more rational emotionally satisfying philosophy of being and becoming Centore s work is certain to prove controversial but deserves to be given careful attention by anyone seriously interested in understanding the contemporary world Jose

Ortega Y Gasset Nora de Marval-McNair,1987-11-25 These essays examine the contribution of Ortega y Gasset reflecting his own diversity of interests with topics on philosophy history literature esthetics language and art The collection draws together scholars from a variety of disciplines in an effort to deepen appreciation for one of the leading writers of modern Spain Originally delivered at Espectador Universal to mark the 100th anniversary of Ortega y Gasset s birth these essays are sure to open new perspectives on the thought and work of one who has long been regarded as the prototyppe to the twentieth century humanist

Beyond the Secular Mind Paul Eidelberg,1989-05-19 Going beyond Allan Bloom s The Closing of the American Mind Paul Eidelberg shows how the cardinal principles of democracy freedom and equality can be saved from the degradation of moral relativism by applying Jewish law to these principles The author attempts to overcome the dichotomy of religion and secularism as well as other contradictions of Western civilization by means of a philosophy of history that uses thoroughly rational concepts and is supported by empirical evidence Eidelberg enumerates and elucidates the characteristics that make Jewish law particularly suited to reopening the secular mind and elevating democracy s formative principles The author compares and contrasts Jewish law with political philosophy His goal is to derive freedom and equality from a conception of man and society that goes beyond the usual political and social categories avoiding both relativism and absolutism In conclusion Eidelberg attempts to overcome the perennial problem of democracy how to reconcile wisdom and consent This he does by sketching the basic institutions of a new community This unique analysis should be read by political and religious theoreticians alike

The Dynamics of Persuasion Richard M. Perloff,1993 Persuasion is one of the oldest fields of academic study it dates back thousands of years In our own era persuasion has been studied primarily by means of the theories and methods of social science research Numerous scholars have made contributions to our knowledge of persuasion and the field has generated a wealth of intriguing concepts and an impressive body of knowledge on persuasion processes and effects Persuasion is not simply a science however it is also an art Today there is a burgeoning persuasion industry that includes advertising sales public relations political consulting firms and a host of private and public companies that seek to change attitudes and influence social behaviors USE SECOND PARAGRAPH ONLY FOR GENERAL CATALOGS

Written to enhance students understanding of persuasion theory and its applications to everyday situations this book presents an up to date review of persuasion theory and research Attempting to show students how these theories can deepen our understanding of how persuasion is practiced in a variety of real life situations it is designed as a text for undergraduate students who wish to know more about concepts of attitude and persuasion as well as introducing graduate students to theory and research in the field of persuasion With a broad look at persuasion research this volume examines psychological approaches to persuasion interpersonal communication theories and the interface between persuasion and mass communication in particular mass media information campaigns It examines research on cognitive processing of persuasive messages compliance gaining in interpersonal contexts and the effects of large scale health communication campaigns

The Life and Death Debate J Moreland, Norman L.

Geisler,1990-11-09 This work is an introductory treatment of issues and options in social and bioethics which center on the end of life Moreland and Geisler have attempted to simplify and summarize various end of life topics without being simplistic or caricaturing different viewpoints even though the authors own viewpoints are made perfectly clear A comprehensive bibliography glossary and subject and author index make this a valuable textbook as well as a resource for further study The major purpose of this book is to make the reader think more clearly and deeply about the important issues discussed between its covers Beginning the work is an essay that introduces the dilemma of ethical decisions The following chapters separately discuss the situations of abortion infanticide euthanasia suicide capital punishment and war The discussion concludes with a chapter of practical and theoretical guidance for making ethical decisions A glossary subject index author index and selected bibliography for each chapter make this a valuable text This important work will not only appeal to experienced philosophers but also to students of moral philosophy theology and ethics

Make Room for Dreams Haim Gordon,1989-06 Make

Room for Dreams examines Zionism from both a philosophical and practical point of view This in depth study reviews and evaluates the notion that Zionism has become a way of enlisting political or economic support for Israel and is no longer seen as a movement that should seek ways to realize humane or spiritual goals The discussion focuses on the concept of Zionism as the return of the Jewish people to the land of Israel a return that must be accompanied by a changing of certain basic attitudes concerning the Jews mode of being in the world The manner of blending existentialism with political thought is seen in relation to the Biblical experience and it is shown that Zionist challenges must draw their sustenance from the ability to read the Bible with existential and political awareness It presents five specific challenges for Zionism in Israel citing concrete examples from life in Israel and some examples from the history of Zionism The current situation is also described and precise determinations for responding to the challenges are woven into each chapter Also included is a thought provoking summary of the manner in which a more authentic Jewish existence can be lived in Israel This scholarly work is the first to deal with the complex issues behind the Zionist movement in present day Israel and will provide a valuable resource for philosophers political scientists and students in Jewish studies

The Last Choice C. G. Prado,1990 The aim of this book is to establish the rationality of electing to commit suicide in order to avoid the degeneration that can occur in advanced age especially when one is suffering from a terminal disease As well as discussing the philosophical questions the book offers some practical advice
