Cognitive Relativism and Social Science Diederick Raven, 2020-02-18 Modern epistemology has been dominated by an empiricist theory of knowledge that assumes a direct individualistic relationship between the knowing subject and the object of knowledge Truth is held to be universal and non individualistic social and cultural factors are considered sources of distortion of true knowledge Since the late 1950s this view has been challenged by a cognitive relativism asserting that what is true is socially conditioned This volume examines the far reaching implications of this development for the social sciences Recently cognitive relativism has become a key issue of debate in anthropology philosophy and sociology In anthropology this is illustrated by a growing awareness of the similarity of all systems of knowledge In philosophy it is exemplified by the realization that traditional monolithic and absolutist concepts of truth have increasingly lost any power to make sense and to convince In sociology it is visible in a renewal of interest in a general sociology of knowledge Yet in spite of this convergence of interests practitioners of these three disciplines have on the whole shown no inclination to reach a consensus on the terms of reference that could facilitate an interdisciplinary approach Cognitive Relativism and Social Science aims to do just this It is a working assumption of this volume that as far as the subject of cognitive relativism is concerned anthropologists philosophers and sociologists should join forces rather than try to deal with the challenges of cognitive relativism within strictly imposed boundaries that normally separate academic disciplines Only when they work together will it be possible to treat the problems posed by cognitive relativism in an adequate way This volume provides the results of attempts to communicate on cognitive relativism across disciplinary boundaries This is must reading in the philosophy of social science and in social research theory

Cognitive Relativism and Social Science Diederick Raven, Lieteke van Vucht Tijssen, 1992 Modern epistemology has been dominated by an empiricist theory of knowledge that assumes a direct individualistic relationship between the knowing subject and the object of knowledge Truth is held to be universal and non individualistic social and cultural factors are considered sources of distortion of true knowledge Since the late 1950s this view has been challenged by a cognitive relativism asserting that what is true is socially conditioned This volume examines the far reaching implications of this development for the social sciences Recently cognitive relativism has become a key issue of debate in anthropology philosophy and sociology In anthropology this is illustrated by a growing awareness of the similarity of all systems of knowledge In philosophy it is exemplified by the realization that traditional monolithic and absolutist concepts of truth have increasingly lost any power to make sense and to convince In sociology it is visible in a renewal of interest in a general sociology of knowledge Yet in spite of this convergence of interests practitioners of these three disciplines have on the whole shown no inclination to reach a consensus on the terms of reference that could facilitate an interdisciplinary approach Cognitive Relativism and Social Science aims to do just this It is a working assumption of this volume that as far as the subject of cognitive relativism is concerned anthropologists philosophers and sociologists should join forces rather than try to deal with the challenges of cognitive relativism within strictly imposed boundaries that normally separate academic disciplines Only when they work together will it be possible to treat the problems posed by cognitive relativism in an adequate way This volume provides the results of attempts to communicate on cognitive relativism across disciplinary boundaries This is must reading in the philosophy of social science and in social research theory Cognitive Relativism & Social Science , Printbegr nsniger Der kan printes kapitelvis Relativism and the Social Sciences Ernest Gellner,1987-02-26 Considers human diversity and change and rejects the usual solutions to problems of relativism Presents a new mode of inquiry in its stead a mixture of philosophy history and anthropology that appears to be more meaningful

Wittgenstein and the Social Sciences Robert Vinten,2020-07-27 In Wittgenstein and the Social Sciences Robert Vinten takes a fresh look at the relationship between Wittgenstein s philosophy and the social sciences He argues that although social sciences are quite different to the natural sciences they are nonetheless properly called sciences The book looks in detail at whether Wittgenstein can be claimed by conservatives liberals or socialists as their own Wittgenstein s philosophical remarks and remarks about politics and culture are taken into account in deciding where to locate Wittgenstein in relation to various ideologies In the final part of the book Vinten considers how Wittgenstein s philosophy can be of use in resolving or dissolving problems in the social sciences Along the way he critically assesses work from Perry Anderson Terry Eagleton Richard Rorty and Chantal Mouffe in the light of Wittgenstein s philosophical oeuvre The book makes a compelling examination of how Wittgenstein s work remains as relevant as ever to thinking about our cultural and political situation

Sociology and Ideology Eliezer Ben Rafael,2003-01-01 Annotation Representing different views on the role of ideology in sociological pursuits and on the sociological study of ideology these seven essays consider the relationship between ideology and relativism modernity economic globalization linguistic pluralism critical reflexivity and identity The authors examine sociological practice as it has varied over time and as it is employed in different geographical locations contrasting sociological work with that of other social sciences Annotation 2004 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com Masons,

Tricksters and Cartographers David Turnbull,2000 This highly original study puts forward the notion that every culture has its own ways of assembling local knowledge thereby creating space through the linking of people practices and places

The Social Science Encyclopedia Adam Kuper,Jessica Kuper,2004-10-14 The Social Science Encyclopedia first published in 1985 to acclaim from social scientists librarians and students was thoroughly revised in 1996 when reviewers began to describe it as a classic This third edition has been radically recast Over half the entries are new or have been entirely rewritten and most of the balance have been substantially revised Written by an international team of contributors the Encyclopedia offers a global perspective on key issues within the social sciences Some 500 entries cover a variety of enduring and newly vital areas of study and research methods Experts review theoretical debates from neo evolutionism and rational choice theory to poststructuralism and address the great questions that cut across the social sciences What is the influence of genes on behaviour What is the nature of consciousness and cognition What are the causes of poverty and wealth What are the roots of conflict wars revolutions and genocidal violence This authoritative reference work is aimed at anyone with a serious interest in contemporary academic thinking about the individual in society Brains/Practices/Relativism

Stephen Turner,2002-05 In a series of tightly argued essays Turner traces out the implications that discarding the notion of shared frameworks has for relativism social constructivism normativity and a number of other concepts The One Culture?

Jay A. Labinger,Harry Collins,2010-08-15 So far the Science Wars have generated far more heat than light Combatants from one or the other of what C P Snow famously called the two cultures science versus the arts and humanities have launched bitter attacks but have seldom engaged in constructive dialogue about the central issues In The One Culture Jay A Labinger and Harry Collins have gathered together some of the world s foremost scientists and sociologists of science to exchange opinions and ideas rather than insults The contributors find surprising areas of broad agreement in a genuine conversation about science its legitimacy and authority as a means of understanding the world and whether science studies undermines the practice and findings of science and scientists The One Culture is organized into three parts The first consists of position papers written by scientists and sociologists of science which were distributed to all the participants The second presents commentaries on these papers drawing out and discussing their central themes and arguments In the third section participants respond to these critiques offering defenses clarifications and modifications of their positions Who can legitimately speak about science What is the proper role of scientific knowledge How should scientists interact with the rest of society in decision making Because science occupies such a central position in the world today such questions are vitally important Although there are no simple solutions The One Culture does show the reader exactly what is at stake in the Science Wars and provides a valuable framework for how to go about seeking the answers we so urgently need Contributors include Constance K Barsky Jean Bricmont Harry Collins Peter Dear Jane Gregory Jay A Labinger Michael Lynch N David Mermin Steve Miller Trevor Pinch Peter R Saulson Steven Shapin Alan Sokal Steven Weinberg Kenneth G Wilson

Knowledge and the World: Challenges Beyond the Science Wars Martin Carrier,Johannes Roggenhofer,Günter Küppers,Philippe Blanchard,2013-03-09 The fundamental question of whether or in what sense science informs us about the real world has pervaded the history of thought since antiquity Is what science tells us about the world determined unambiguously by facts or does the content of any scientific theory in some way depend on the human condition Sokal s hoax attacked the mere seriousness of post modern views of science and shifted this controversial debate to a new level which very quickly came to be known as Science Wars Knowledge and the World examines and reviews the broad range of philosophical positions on this issue extending from realism to relativism to expound the epistemic merit of science and to tackle the central question in what sense can science justifiably claim to provide a truthful portrait of reality Challenges beyond the Science Wars are taken up by contributions of scientists sociologists and philosophers of science which connect perspectives of a wide variety of disciplines including biology and cultural studies This book addresses everyone interested in the philosophy and history of science and in particular in the interplay between the social and natural sciences Frontiers of Sociology Peter Hedström, Björn Wittrock, 2009-01-31 The 37th World Congress of the IIS focused on theory and research at the forefront of sociology and the relationship between sociology and its neighbouring disciplines This volume constitutes a sustained effort by prominent sociologists and other social scientists to assess the current standing of sociology It is a stocktaking of the unique nature of sociology in the light of advances within the discipline itself and within a range of neighbouring disciplines Some of the chapters outline institutional and professional strategies for sociology in the new millennium Others trace scholarly advances and propose ambitious research programmes drawing on recent developments not only within traditional neighbouring disciplines such as history political science and economics but also within the cognitive cultural and mathematical sciences Contributors include Hans Peter Blossfeld Raymond Boudon Richard Breen Christofer R Edling S N Eisenstadt Jack Goldstone Philip Gorski Peter G rdenfors Ulf Hannerz Peter Hedstr m Hans Joas Dietrich Rueschemeyer Jens Rydgren Neil Smelser Aage B S rensen Richard Swedberg Piotr Sztompka Peter Wagner and Bj rn Wittrock International Encyclopedia of the Social & Behavioral Sciences Neil J.
