Nixon in New York Victor Li, 2018-04-02 Richard Nixon's loss in the 1962 gubernatorial election in California was more than just a simple electoral defeat. His once promising political career was in ruins as he dropped his second high profile race in as many years. Nixon himself rubbed salt in his own self-inflicted wounds by delivering a growling bitter concession speech that made him seem like a sore loser. In the months following his defeat and self-immolation he left California to move to New York so that he could work for a prestigious Wall Street law firm. His new career only seemed to confirm what everyone already knew: Richard Nixon was finished as a politician. Except he wasn't. Nixon's political resurrection was virtually unprecedented in American history, and he had his law firm to thank for paving his way to the White House. His role as public partner at Nixon Mudge Rose Guthrie Alexander was the ideal platform for him as he looked to reinvent himself after his back-to-back losses in 1960 and 1962. Nixon's firm gave him access to deep-pocketed clients, many of whom became donors when he decided to take the plunge in 1968. Furthermore, working for so many international clients allowed him to travel the world and burnish his foreign policy credentials, a vital quality that voters were looking for as the Cold War raged on and the Vietnam War showed no signs of slowing down. Nixon's time at the firm also allowed him to build a formidable campaign staff consisting of top-notch lawyers, researchers, and writers, a staff that did just about everything for him when it came time to ramp up for the 1968 campaign.

Metronome, 1928 The Poets of Tin Pan Alley Philip Furia, Laurie J. Patterson, 2022 From the turn of the century to the 1960s, the songwriters of Tin Pan Alley were synonymous with American popular music. Irving Berlin, Cole Porter, George and Ira Gershwin, Rodgers and Hart, even today, these giants remain household names. Their musicals regularly revived their methods and styles, analyzed and imitated, and their songs the bedrock of jazz and cabaret. In this new edition of The Poets of Tin Pan Alley, authors Philip Furia and Laurie Patterson offer a unique perspective on these great songwriters, showing how their poetic lyrics were as important as their brilliant music in shaping a golden age of American popular song. Furia and Patterson continue the tradition of great perception and understanding established in the first edition as they explore the deft rhymes, inventive imagery, and witty solutions these songwriters used to breathe new life into rigidly established genres. They devote full chapters to such greats as Irving Berlin, Lorenz Hart, Ira Gershwin, Cole Porter, Oscar Hammerstein II, Howard Dietz, E. Y. Harburg, Dorothy Fields, Leo Robin, and Johnny Mercer. They also offer a comprehensive survey of other lyricists who wrote for the sheet music industry, Broadway, Hollywood, and Harlem nightclub revues. This was the era that produced The New Yorker, Don Marquis, Dorothy Parker, and E. B. White, and the book places Tin Pan Alley lyrics firmly in this fascinating historical context. In these pages, the lyrics emerge as an important element of American modernism, as the lyricists like the great modernist poets took the American vernacular and made it sing.
