Lyman,1997 In the fifth volume in the Studies in American Sociology Series Stanford M Lyman offers commentaries on and critiques of postmodernism poststructuralism and deconstruction posing questions concerning theoretical and epistemological problems arising from what appears to be a nouvelle vague Postmodernism poststructuralism and deconstructionism are interrelated aspects of the newest theoretical development in sociology and the social sciences This new wave of thought challenges virtually all paradigms currently in use In this his fifth volume in the Studies in American Sociology Series Stanford M Lyman offers commentaries on and critiques of this new perspective posing questions concerning theoretical and epistemological problems arising from what appears to be a nouvelle vague Among the basic themes and issues explored are the allegation that modernity has defaulted on the promise of the Enlightenment the question of whether the rational basis for knowledge and action is still valid the controversy over the place of metanarratives and macrosociological outlooks and newer concerns over race gender sexual preferences the self and the Other Professor Lyman provides empirically based and historically specific analyses of the relation of the race question to the problem of otherness and to the legal construction of racial identity in American court proceedings Focusing on the issues of citizenship affecting European Middle Eastern and Asian immigrants African Americans and the special cases of the Chinese and Native Americans he relates major public problems to the modern as well as the postmodern perspectives on justice The debate over assimilation and multiculturalism the dynamics of gender specific emotions as expressed in six decades of Hollywood films and the postmodern approach to deviance are each examined He also offers proposals for a social science attuned to but critical of postmodernism and poststructuralism Such a sociology might offer a perspective that treats the drama of social relations in the routine as well as the remarkable aspects of everyday life Professor Lyman provides not only a new understanding of postmodernism but also a program of how to proceed with respect to its challenges

News Around the World Pamela J. Shoemaker, Akiba A. Cohen, 2012-12-06

What's news A front page news story in the United States might not appear in a newspaper in China Or a minor story on German television may be all over the airwaves in India But News Around the World shows that the underlying nature of news is much the same the world over and that people no matter what their jobs or their status in society tend to hold similar notions of newsworthiness In this richly detailed study of international news news makers and the audience the authors have undertaken exhaustive original research within two cities one major and one peripheral in each of ten countries Australia Chile China Germany India Israel Jordan Russia South Africa and the United States The nations were selected for study based on a central principle of maximizing variation in geographic locations economic and political systems languages sizes and cultures The remarkable scope of the research makes this the most comprehensive analysis of newsworthiness around the globe 10 countries studied each with a university country director 2 cities in each country examined one major and one peripheral 60 news media studied newspapers television and radio news programs resulting in 32 000 news items analyzed 80 focus groups with journalists public relations practitioners and audience members 2 400 newspaper stories ranked according to newsworthiness and compared with how prominently they were published News Around the World provides remarkable insight into how and why news stories are reported testing and improving a theory of cross cultural newsworthiness and is essential reading for anyone seeking to understand international media and journalism
