A Process Christology:

A Process Christology David Ray Griffin, 1973 Process Theology: A Guide for the Perplexed Bruce G. Epperly, 2011-03-24 This is an introductory guide to Process Theology for undergraduates As part of Continuum's Guide for the Perplexed series this text provides an accessible introduction to process theology aimed at nurturing the theological imagination of undergraduates pastors and interested laypersons It describes the major themes of process theology and relates them to the everyday lives and spiritual commitments of people today In addition to addressing traditional theological issues Epperly addresses cutting edge issues in theology and ethics such as pluralism and postmodernism matters of life and death science technology and genetics and emerging forms of Christianity This text is designed for seminary and university classes as well as congregational study It will help readers to overcome the obstacles created by the technical language often employed by process theologians Continuum's Guides for the Perplexed are clear concise and accessible introductions to thinkers writers and subjects that students and readers can find especially challenging or indeed downright bewildering Concentrating specifically on what it is that makes the subject difficult to grasp these books explain and explore key themes and ideas guiding the reader towards a thorough understanding of demanding material Jewish Theology and Process Thought Sandra B. Lubarsky, David Ray Griffin, 2012-02-01 This collection constitutes the first extended discussion of the relationship between Judaism and process thought In the last half century the philosophies of Alfred North Whitehead and Charles Hartshorne have become important sources for contemporary theological reflection Recently a number of Jewish thinkers have examined process thought as a potentially valuable resource for postmodern Jewish theology This book brings together many Jewish thinkers who have pioneered this discussion Jewish thinkers who have found process thought to be a useful framework for contemporary Jewish thought discuss issues that are primarily theological such as God's transcendence and immanence the problem of evil the idea of revelation Also included is a dialogue between Jewish and Christian thinkers on the appropriateness of process thought for their religious traditions Critical reflection on the continuities and discontinuities between Judaism and the process model is also covered Actology Malcolm Torry, 2020-07-08 Two streams run through the Western philosophical stream one characterized by Being beings the unchanging the static and the unitary and the other by Action actions the changing the dynamic and the diverse The former might be represented by Parmenides Plato and much of what followed the latter by Heraclitus and by rather less of what followed The book explores the Action stream as it wound its way through history through Heraclitus Plato Aristotle Hegel Maurice Blondel Henri Bergson Pierre Teilhard de Chardin process philosophy and theology Geoffrey Studdert Kennedy Ludwig Wittgenstein and John Boys Smith The journey enables us to create the beginnings of an actology a way of seeing ourselves the universe and God in terms of actions in patterns rather than as beings that change Such an actology offers a complete alternative narrative far more in tune with the diverse and rapidly changing world in which we live than the ontology that has shaped philosophy theology and much else for the past two thousand years What Christians Believe Alan F. Johnson, Robert E. Webber, 1993 This book offers a biblical and historical summary of a general theology that affirms the unity of the various confessions as well as the validity of diversity in matters of secondary importance Explorations in Christology John Anthony Sullivan, 1987 The classical Hellenic concept of God as self consistent incapable of internal mutability and passionality is rejected by process theologians on the basis of the immediacy of lived experience and the biblical witness All actual reality is relational Process theologians attempt to arrive at modern Christological statements which would do justice to the central intention of traditional creedal affirmations If Christ can be considered the image of creative transformation in the context of contemporary theological pluralism even Paul Tillich's category of existentialist ontology is adaptable The cosmological image of Christ is compatible with the ontological symbol of New Being in Jesus as the Christ The consequences for exploratory Christological affirmations to account for God's unique presence in Jesus the Christ are appealing to modernity

Resurrection and Discipleship Thorwald Lorenzen, 2004-01-30 The authority of the Bible in the Gospel narratives and Paul's impassioned epistles revolve around the factual basis and foundational nature of Christ's resurrection for Christianity The question is how can the resurrection best be understood In Resurrection and Discipleship Thorwald Lorenzen provides a balanced and nuanced investigation of this question The Evolution of New Testament Christology Charles Bray

Williams, 1928 Catholic Faith in a Process Perspective William Norman Pittenger, 1981 The Doctrine of the Person of Jesus Christ Hugh Ross Mackintosh, 1912 The Process Christology of John B. Cobb, Jr Gary J. Boelhower, 1986

Process Studies, 1990 Christology in Process Theology Barbara Lundell, 1978 Religious Experience and Process Theology Harry J. Cargas, Bernard J.
