Topic 1: Nature and Scope of Educational Planning and Policy Making

Planning is essential as it mitigates the future problems that may arise since possible outcomes will be foreseen considering the comments from the experts. The topics today have taught me the relevance of planning, it will lead you to have better output since you will be able to outweigh all the possibilities that may make or break the institution. Aside from bringing the table the concept of planning, policy making should be somehow based on the outcome of the plans that were implemented.

The institution should take into consideration during planning the Sustainable Development Goals set by the United Nations. The 17 goals are critical in order to make our world a better place to live in. Since these goals were subjected for the different sectors under UN but, in education these should be addressed since education is the bedrock of the country. It opens a lot of horizons which are integral for the development of the students.

Being able to understand the framework of planning and policy making, we could be able to apprehend how our roles be in the future that is to become an effective leader who does not only plan for short term goal, but eventually sees to it that these would create big impact for the community as a whole. A leader should sought that the policies to be implemented would lead the stakeholders have a sustainable development that be attained through the implementation of the different alternatives as a result of thorough planning.
