Blight Thomas Jonathan Burrill, Joseph Charles Arthur, Merton Benway Waite, 2003 Fire Blight The Foundation of Phytobacteriology tells the story of the exciting first decades of fire blight research This fascinating collection of papers from the early 19th and 20th centuries highlights work from three notable scientists who pioneered work on the disease Thomas Jonathan Burrill Joseph Charles Arthur and Merton Benway Waite These papers establish the fundamental concept that bacteria could cause plant disease and provide the first proof that insects acted as vectors of plant pathogens The discoveries recorded here belong to the same class of scientific breakthroughs as the work on rust and smut disease in the 1850 s which revealed the fact of fungal pathogenicity The importance of the early studies on fire blight also relate to the development of biology and bacteriology because the revelation that bacteria could cause plant disease came at virtually the same time as the similar discovery with human and animal diseases And the research in the role of insects in the spread of disease appeared contemporaneously with reports of insect vectors in animal disease Plant pathologists horticulturists and historians of science will treasure this collection of papers that expose not only the early details on fire blight but also the identification of the need for research and the authors experimental techniques Carefully selected by the editors the papers clearly reveal the developing nature of plant pathology and lead the reader through the captivating and sometimes lesser known research of times gone by
