Lazar Malkin Enters Heaven Steve Stern,1995-10-01 All of Steve Stern s effervescent stories in this collection have a common relationship either by setting or allusion to the whimsically dangerous North Main Street neighborhood of Pinch a mythical Jewish area perched atop the river bluff in Memphis Here the voice of the Lord rises up from gas burners and out of pay phones Here aging fathers in law live in backyard sheds and negotiate with the Angel of Death Here is a land in which a host of very different characters share a common tendency to ignore the usually agreed upon bonds of reality And in their rollicking wisdom all will confirm Susan Sontag s earlier inventory of Mr Stem s talents Great brio whiplash sentences lots of energy and charm family epic focuses on three Jewish sisters struggling to make something of their lives over 40 years of births deaths work domestic abuse and two world wars Gerber The Kingdom of Brooklyn focuses on the passions and cross cultural currents whirling around Ava Musetta and Gilda the three daughters of Rachel a Polish Jew who arrives on New York s Lower East Side in 1906

Race, Rights, and Recognition Dean J. Franco,2012-05-15 In Race Rights and Recognition Dean J Franco explores the work of recent Jewish American writers many of whom have taken unpopular stances on social issues distancing themselves from the politics and public practice of multiculturalism While these writers explore the same themes of group based rights and recognition that preoccupy Latino African American and Native American writers they are generally suspicious of group identities and are more likely to adopt postmodern distancing techniques than to presume to speak for their people Ranging from Philip Roth s scandalous 1969 novel Portnoy s Complaint to Gary Shteyngart s Absurdistan in 2006 the literature Franco examines in this book is at once critical of and deeply invested in the problems of race and the rise of multicultural philosophies and policies in America Franco argues that from the formative years of multiculturalism 1965 1975 Jewish writers probed the ethics and not just the politics of civil rights and cultural recognition this perspective arose from a stance of keen awareness of the limits and possibilities of consensus based civil and human rights Contemporary Jewish writers are now responding to global problems of cultural conflict and pluralism and thinking through the challenges and responsibilities of cosmopolitanism Indeed if the United States is now correctly if cautiously identifying itself as a post ethnic nation it may be said that Jewish writing has been well ahead of the curve in imagining what a post ethnic future might look like and in critiquing the social conventions of race and ethnicity
