Bluebird and the Dead Lake John Pearson, 1962 The Bluebird and the Dead Lake John Pearson, Richard Williams, 2013-08-01 In 1964 in Australia's remote outback on the dazzling saltpan of Lake Eyre Donald Campbell set out to drive his Bluebird car at over 400 miles an hour faster than any man in history Things went wrong from the start unseasonal rains a sodden lake bed in which every high speed run slewed dangerously money running short even an Aboriginal curse With death shimmering on the horizon before him the lonely Campbell tried to hold his nerve until he broke the record Campbell would lose his life eventually on Coniston Water with over thirty years passing before his body was recovered in 2001 but this strangest and greatest of all his world record attempts was witnessed by a young reporter John Pearson's classic book about Donald Campbell is an extraordinarily compelling and moving portrait of a modern tragic hero fighting a battle with inhospitable elements and the outer limits of technology and above all with himself Bluebird and the Dead Lake John Pearson, 1965 An account published before death of the late Donald Campbell's attempts at breaking the water speed records Bluebird and the Dead Lake John Pearson, 2002 The definitive eyewitness account of Donald Campbell's 1964 land speed record attempt on Lake Eyre is not only a vibrant portrait of one of the world's most hostile and mesmeric landscapes but also a compelling psychological drama driven by huge ambition bitter rivalry rare tenacity a rarely glimpsed vulnerability and above all death defying courage This is the story of one man's obsession Donald Campbell David Tremayne, 2011-09-30 Generations are familiar with the haunting black and white television footage of Donald Campbell somersaulting to his death in his famous Bluebird boat on Coniston Water in January 1967 It has become an iconic image of the decade His towering achievements and the drama of his passing are thus part of the national psyche But what of the man himself The son of the legendary Sir Malcolm Campbell who was famous for being the ultimate record breaker of the interwar years he broke the land speed record nine times and the water speed record four times with his Bluebird cars and boats Donald Campbell was born to speed He was outgoing and flamboyant yet carefully orchestrated the image he presented to the world Some saw him as a playboy adventurer others such as the radio producer on the twenty first anniversary of his death as a reckless daredevil with a death wish He was known to take solace in extra marital dalliances and was obsessed with spiritualism And in his final years battered by a 360 mph accident while attempting the land record on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah and his prolonged and anti climactic subsequent effort on the treacherous Lake Eyre in Australia Campbell appeared a haggard and often frightened man He had become trapped on his record breaker's treadmill as he continually sought to prove himself to his illustrious father in whose long shadow he felt forever trapped DONALD CAMPBELL THE MAN BEHIND THE MASK paints a fascinating portrait of an intense complex superstitious yet abnormally brave man who was driven not only by the desire to prove that he was worthy of the mantle of his father but also by his fervent and unswerving desire to keep Britain at the forefront of international speed endeavour This book generates a unique insight into how his desperate fear of failure finally lured him into taking one risk too many      Social Justice Susan Magarey,1998 Egg heads in an ivory tower Dreary boffins carrying out useless research at the tax payer s expense Computer nerds Do such figures make you think of people working in humanities and social sciences in universities This book shows just how wrong such representations are These articles foreground the essentially political nature of such research political in the broad sense of being concerned with differences of power between people as individuals groups races sexes nations All of these articles show a strong commitment to a democratic sharing of power to social justice The authors collected here represent a range of cutting edge research in the Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Adelaide      Donald Campbell Tonia Bern-Campbell,2006 The love affair between British speed king Donald Campbell and vivacious singer Tonia Bern was one of the great romances of the twentieth century But passion turned to tragedy with the dramatic death of Campbell on Lake Coniston in January 1967 as he attempted to break the world water speed record in his famous jet boat Bluebird Tonia tells the inside story of her heady lifestyle with Britain s national land and water speed hero      Roosevelt Wild Life Annals of the Roosevelt Wild Life Forest Experiment Station of the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University ,1929
