Anger in Juvenal and Seneca William Scovil Anderson,1964      Anger in Juvenal and Seneca, By William S. Anderson
William Scovil Anderson,1964      Persius and Juvenal Maria Plaza,2009-08-07 The last decades have seen a lively interest in Roman verse satire and this collection of essays introduces the reader to the best of modern critical writing on Persius and Juvenal The eight articles on Persius range from detailed analyses of his fine technique to readings inspired by theoretical approaches such as New Historicism Reader Response Criticism and Dialogics The nine selections on Juvenal focus upon the pivotal question in modern Juvenalian criticism how serious is the poet when he voices his appallingly misogynist homophobic and xenophobic moralism The contributors challenge the straightforward equivalence of author and speaker in a variety of ways and they also point up the technical aspects of Juvenal s art Three papers have been newly translated for this volume and all Latin quotations are also given in English A specially written Introduction provides a useful conspectus of recent scholarship      Juvenal and the Satiric Emotions Catherine Keane,2015-02-23 This text reveals Juvenal s creative exploitation of Greco Roman ideas about the emotions in this new analysis of his Satires and their arrangement      The Passions in Roman Thought and Literature Susanna Morton Braund,Christopher Gill,1997-08-07 Essays by an international team of scholars in Latin literature and ancient philosophy explore the understanding of emotions or passions in Roman thought and literature Building on work on Hellenistic theories of emotion and on philosophy as therapy they look closely at the interface between ancient philosophy especially Stoic and Epicurean rhetorical theory conventional Roman thinking and literary portrayal There are searching studies of the emotional thought world of a range of writers including Catullus Cicero Virgil Seneca Statius Tacitus and Juvenal Issues of debate such as the ethical colour of Aeneas s angry killing of Turnus at the end of the Aeneid are placed in a broad and illuminating perspective Written in clear and non technical language with Greek and Latin translated the volume opens up a fascinating area on the borders of philosophy and literature

Essays on Roman Satire William S. Anderson,2014-07-14 The fifteen essays collected here argue that Roman verse satire should be viewed primarily as an art form rather than as a social document or a direct expression of social protest Originally published between 1956 and 1974 they constitute an impressive attempt to free Roman satire from misinterpretations that arose during the romantic era and that continue to plague scholars in the field The author rejects the proposition that Juvenal and other satirists expressed spontaneous unadorned anger and that the critic s best approach is the study of the historical social economic and personal circumstances that led to their statement of that anger This work develops his thesis that Roman satire was designed as a literary form and that the proper stance of the critic is to elucidate its art Focusing on the dramatic character of the first person speaker in the satires of Horace Persius and Juvenal the author shows both how the speaker s role was shaped to suit the purposes of the individual poems and how that role changed over successive collections of satires Several essays also discuss the ways in which the satirists employed metaphors and similes and used contemporary ethical and rhetorical themes Originally published in 1982 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
