

Fluid Regionalism and Ukrainian National Identities in the Light of Public Opinion Surveys

The current Russian-Ukrainian conflict can be analyzed as a result of the unfinished disintegration of the Soviet Union. At the same time, one of the most visible consequences of the tragic events in Ukraine since 2013–14 is a change in Ukrainian national identity. People's identities and attitudes towards identity issues, language, and political preferences changed in the course of the conflict and as a direct result of it. This presentation attempts to capture the dynamics of identity change after the Euromaidan Revolution in Ukraine and the beginning of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict. Based on the analysis of opinion polls, it shows how traumatic and nostalgic memory function in the Ukrainian public imagination and how these phenomena affect identity issues.
