Isolation is the complex theme which is usually addressed in poetry in connection with the depiction of the characters' interpersonal and intrapersonal conflicts. Thus, the topic of isolation is discussed in Matthew Arnold's poem "Dover Beach" (1867) with the focus on the changes in the social and religious life. In Thomas Hardy's "Ah, Are You Digging on My Grave" (1913), the topic of isolation is discussed more directly, but with the help of satire and irony.

Referring to these poems, it is possible to note that the idea of isolation can affect the persons at the social level, while accentuating the isolation between the social categories, and at the personal level, while concentrating on the individual's isolation from the other persons. In spite of the fact that the theme of isolation is shown in both the poems, the idea of isolation is presented in Arnold's poem "Dover Beach" with the focus on the melancholic isolation of people within the society because of their lost religious ideals and changed values; and in Hardy's "Ah, Are You Digging on My Grave", isolation is the personal problem which affects an individual, not a society.

The feeling of isolation as the aspect of the social atmosphere is accentuated in Arnold's poem. The poet is inclined to represent the isolation of everyone in the world of lost religious ideals. Thus, referring to the character's melancholy, Arnold focuses on the "eternal note of sadness" and "human misery" (Arnold 14, 18). In the context of the Victorian era's poetry, the problem of isolation is a result of the fact that the "Sea of Faith" is not as full and calm as it was previously (Arnold 21; Bristow 112). That is why, Arnold's approach to melancholic isolation is accentuated with references to the character's doubts and hesitations, and it is explained with references to the Victorian era's crisis of faith.

Isolation is also the problem associated with the interpersonal relations and the role of the individual in the other people's lives. In "Ah, Are You Digging on My Grave", Hardy discusses isolation as primarily the personal problem which is associated with sadness and fear of being forgotten. Following the satirical dialogue between the dead woman and the dog, it is possible to note that the woman is forgotten by every close
