Dublin Belles Conversations With Dublin Women:

Jewish Ireland in the Age of Joyce Cormac Ó Gráda, 2016-06-28 James Joyce's Leopold Bloom the atheistic Everyman of Ulysses son of a Hungarian Jewish father and an Irish Protestant mother may have turned the world's literary eyes on Dublin but those who look to him for history should think again He could hardly have been a product of the city's bona fide Jewish community where intermarriage with outsiders was rare and piety was pronounced In Jewish Ireland in the Age of Joyce a leading economic historian tells the real story of how Jewish Ireland and Dublin's Little Jerusalem in particular made ends meet from the 1870s when the first Lithuanian Jewish immigrants landed in Dublin to the late 1940s just before the community began its dramatic decline In 1866 the year Bloom was born Dublin's Jewish population hardly existed and on the eve of World War I it numbered barely three thousand But this small group of people quickly found an economic niche in an era of depression and developed a surprisingly vibrant web of institutions In a richly detailed elegantly written blend of historical economic and demographic analysis Cormac Ó Gráda examines the challenges this community faced He asks how its patterns of child rearing schooling and cultural and religious behavior influenced its marital fertility and infant mortality rates He argues that the community's small size shaped its occupational profile and influenced its acculturation it also compromised its viability in the long run Jewish Ireland in the Age of Joyce presents a fascinating portrait of a group of people in an unlikely location who though small in number comprised Ireland's most resilient immigrant community until the Celtic Tiger's immigration surge of the 1990s

Contraception and Modern Ireland Laura Kelly, 2023-02-23 Contraception was the subject of intense controversy in twentieth century Ireland Banned in 1935 and stigmatised by the Catholic Church it was the focus of some of the most polarised debates before and after its legalisation in 1979 This is the first comprehensive dedicated history of contraception in Ireland from the establishment of the Irish Free State in 1922 to the 1990s Drawing on the experiences of Irish citizens through a wide range of archival sources and oral history Laura Kelly provides insights into the lived experiences of those negotiating family planning alongside the memories of activists who campaigned for and against legalisation She highlights the influence of the Catholic Church's teachings and legal structures on Irish life showing how for many sex and contraception were obscured by shame Yet in spite of these constraints many Irish women and men showed resistance in accessing contraceptive methods This title is also available as Open Access practical terms for life Although this system was abandoned by his successor the conscription experience remained traumatic in the popular memory and gave rise to a large and continuing literature that often depicted Jewish soldiers as heroes This imaginative and intellectually ambitious book traces the conscription theme in novels and stories by some of the best known Russian Jewish writers such as Osip Rabinovich Judah Leib Gordon and Mendele Mokher Seforim as well as by relatively unknown writers Published with the generous support of the Koret Foundation Writings on Irish History ,1994

Mondays at Gaj's Anne Stopper,2006 What sets Mondays at Gaj s apart from other histories of the women s rights movement is that it is based on a series of personal interviews with the activists themselves allowing the IWLM founders to tell their own stories in their own words Mondays at Gaj s paints a fascinating portrait of an exciting period in Ireland s cultural history BOOK JACKET May's British & Irish Press Guide ,1876 Etudes Irlandaises ,1972 Whitaker's Book List ,1989 Home Chat ,1901 The Athenaeum ,1902 Art World ,1917 Art World Fred Wellington Ruckstuhl,1918 The American Booksellers Guide ,1874
