

On a summer's day in Paris a young girl is strangled by her father. Her father takes her head with a love. Her name is Hamnet, and this is the story of her life. Why is nobody at home?

Their mother, Anne, is a woman away in the garden where she grows medicinal herbs. Their father is working in London.

Their parents know that one of the children will not survive, but when Hamnet is a child he is loved by the man of a famous playwright. It is a story of the first love, the end of a marriage pushed to the limit by grief.

It is also the story of a letter and its return, a flea that boards a ship in Alexandria, and a glove-maker's son who doubts conversion in pursuit of the woman he loves. Above all, it is the tragedy of a boy whose life has been all but forgotten, but whose name was given to one of the most celebrated plays ever written.
