

DON'T BE SILLY

BY DAVE MORAN

Are there bugs that live on the moon?
Can July come before June?
Can the sun ever feel cold?
"Don't be silly" I'm often told.

Why can't we live under the sea?
The creatures there seem so happy.
Why does cheese look like gold?
"Don't be silly" I'm often told.

So why are things the way they are?
Has it always been, right from the start?
Will Mickey Mouse ever get old?
"Don't be silly" I'm often told.

So in good time I know I'll grow,
And I will learn, this I know.
I'll ask my questions and be bold,
"And that's not silly" I'll be told.

Reading Time in the Long Poem Tess Somervell, 2022-10-19 Reading Time tells the story of the long poem in the long eighteenth century as it navigated between narrative and description progress and digression and time and space The long poem emerged between 1660 and 1850 as a medium in which poets could shape and reshape time Analysing Milton's Paradise Lost Thomson's The Seasons and Wordsworth's The Prelude this study reveals how these poets used both the content and form of their long poems to intervene in contemporary debates about the temporalities of free will nature and identity Reading Time argues that they use the figure of the prospect the extended landscape to imagine time as a space onto which different causal configurations could be mapped In turn readers have approached these poems as both temporal and spatial forms as linear processes and as static structures demonstrating how the long poem can shape a reader's own experience of time Poetry Harriet Monroe, 1984 Lecture Notes Deborah Meadows, 2018 Poetry Literary Nonfiction
