Angels & Insects A. S. Byatt, 1994-03-29 In these two astonishing novellas The New Yorker the Booker Prize winning author of Possession returns to the landscape of Victorian England where science and spiritualism are popular manias and domestic decorum coexists with brutality and perversion At once quirky and deep brimming with generosity imagination and intelligence The New Yorker In Morpho Eugenia an explorer realises that the behaviour of the people around him is alarmingly similar to that of the insects he studies In The Conjugal Angel curious individuals some fictional others drawn from history gather to connect with the spirit world Throughout both Byatt examines the eccentricities of the Victorian era weaving fact and fiction reality and romance science and faith into a sumptuous magical tapestry Angels and Insects Antonia Susan Byatt, 1993 Angels & Insects Antonia Susan Byatt, 2012 Angels & Insects Two Novellas, 2015

Waiting for the End Earl G. Ingersoll, 2007 Waiting for the End examines two dozen contemporary novels within the context of a half century of theorizing about the function of ending in narrative That theorizing about ending generated a powerful dynamic a quarter century ago with the advent of feminist criticism of masculinist readings of the role played by ending in fiction Feminists such as Theresa de Lauretis in 1984 and more famously Susan Winnett in her 1991 PMLA essay Coming Unstrung were leading voices in a swelling chorus of theorist pointing out the masculinist bias of ending in narrative With the entry of feminist readings of ending it became inevitable that criticism of fiction would become gendered through the recognition of difference transcending a simple binary of female male to establish a spectrum of masculine to feminine endings regardless of the sex of the writer Accordingly Waiting for the End examines pairs of novels one pair by Margaret Atwood and one by Ian McEwan to demonstrate how a writer can offer endings at either end of the gender spectrum
