Anglo Saxon Perceptions Of The Islamic World:

Anglo-Saxon Perceptions of the Islamic World Katharine Scarfe Beckett,2003-10-16 In this book Scarfe Beckett is concerned with representations of the Islamic world prevalent in Anglo Saxon England Using a wide variety of literary historical and archaeological evidence she argues that the first perceptions of Arabs Ismaelites and Saracens which derived from Christian exegesis preconditioned western expressions of hostility and superiority towards peoples of the Islamic world and that these received ideas prevailed even as material contacts increased between England and Muslim territory Medieval texts invariably represented Muslim Arabs as Saracens and Ismaelites or Hagarenes described by Jerome as biblical enemies of the Christian world three centuries before Muhammad's lifetime Two early ideas in particular that Saracens worshipped Venus and dissembled their own identity continued into the early modern period This finding has interesting implications for earlier theses by Edward Said and Norman Daniel concerning the history of English perceptions of Islam

Christians and Muslims in the Middle Ages Michael Frassetto,2019-11-12 The conflict and contact between Muslims and Christians in the Middle Ages is among the most important but least appreciated developments of the period from the seventh to the fourteenth century Michael Frassetto argues that the relationship between these two faiths during the Middle Ages was essential to the cultural and religious developments of Christianity and Islam even as Christians and Muslims often found themselves engaged in violent conflict Frassetto traces the history of those conflicts and argues that these holy wars helped create the identity that defined the essential characteristics of Christians and Muslims The polemic works that often accompanied these holy wars was important Frassetto contends because by defining the essential evil of the enemy Christian authors were also defining their own beliefs and practices Holy war was not the only defining element of the relationship between Christians and Muslims during the Middle Ages and Frassetto explains that everyday contacts between Christian and Muslim leaders and scholars generated more peaceful relations and shaped the literary intellectual and religious culture that defined medieval and even modern Christianity and Islam
