Archaeology of the North Coast of Honduras Doris Stone,1941 The present paper is the result of years of interest in this particular field It is an attempt to place certain cultural facts in the archaeological history of Honduras It is further an attempt to link some of the aborigines with archaeological remains from certain sections of the country namely the people who dwelt in the present departments of Colon parts of Olancho Atlantida Yoro Cortes parts of Comayagua and parts of Santa Barbara From this wide territory the writer believes it is possible to obtain an idea of the people responsible for the archaeological types In addition we shall make certain digressions into the present republics of El Salvador and Nicaragua when the historical or archaeological facts present the opportunity or raise the necessity to connect them with Honduras
