Dublin Annegret Simms, 2001 This is the first volume in a short series that will deal with the planning and development of Dublin from the earliest times to the present day The focus is on the built environment and from both geographical and historical perspectives aims to unravel and explain the processes that have interacted to produce today's city It begins with a discussion of Dublin's early development emphasizing the value of maps in understanding how the city grew There follows a detailed examination of the city's flowering in the eighteenth century and their inter relationships This leads into a discussion of the problems of the nineteenth century city This volume concludes with a reconstruction of Dublin at the beginning of the twentieth century looking at how it might have been seen and experienced by the people of the day Series The Making of Dublin      Samuel Ferguson and the Culture of Nineteenth-century Ireland Eve Patten, 2004 Samuel Ferguson 1810-86 was one of 19th century Ireland's most influential writers but his politics and cultural agenda have never been fully understood This book draws on his neglected prose writings to illuminate his layered ideology and to expose his various determining contexts including his native Belfast and its Scottish Enlightenment hinterland the Dublin University Magazine with its fraught literary political protocol the communities of the Ordnance Survey Commission the Nation and the Royal Irish Academy Ferguson's guiding agenda is shown to be that of a civic idealism a grassroots alternative to polarized political trajectories and a compelling ethos for a conflicted Irish Protestantism The result is both a portrait of an individual in his time and a detailed engagement with Irish cultural politics from the Union to the Revival      Saothar, 1989      New Publications for Architecture Libraries Mary A. Vance, 1990      Dublin Slums, 1800-1925 Jacinta Prunty, 1998 Based on source materials ranging from public inquiries and property valuations to the records created by women charity workers such as Margaret Aylward the slum geography of the city is meticulously recreated in this thoroughly original book The overlapping areas of contagious disease slum housing and the support of the very poorest the beggars and costermongers who daily thronged the city streets form the three main areas of analysis These issues are explored on scales ranging from city wide to the local street or court while the final case study examines the dynamic nature of slum creation and efforts at relief and reform in the particular context of the north city parishes of St Mary s and St Michan s approach to social and cultural change in 1960s Ireland
