Dynamic Issues In Commercial Policy Analysis:

Dynamic Issues in Applied Commercial Policy Analysis Richard E. Baldwin, Joseph F. Francois, 1999 Dynamic Issues In Commercial Policy Analysis is the latest book in the sequence of volumes from Centre for Economic Policy Research and should be a useful reference for anyone interested in the assessment of international trade and investment policy and the applied study of the dynamic implications of trade policy Dynamic Issues in Commercial Policy Analysis Richard E. Baldwin, Joseph F. Francois, 2010-01-13 Economists have long argued that dynamic effects of policy changes are much more important in the real world than static effects but this is not reflected in the majority of applied trade studies This book departs from mainstream trade modeling and examines the dynamic aspects of international trade and investment policy by explicitly specifying dynamic mechanisms in a wide range of modeling approaches With contributions from leading economists Dynamic Issues In Commercial Policy Analysis will become a standard reference in international trade and policy research

Trade, Globalization and Sustainability Impact Assessment Paul Ekins, Tancrede Voituriez, 2012-05-16 Trade liberalization as promoted by the World Trade Organization WTO has become one of the dominant drivers and most controversial aspects of globalization Trade sustainability impact assessments SIAs were introduced as a means of generating better understanding especially of the social and environmental impacts of trade liberalisation and of making those impacts more consistent with sustainable development This book takes a hard look at the experience of Trade SIAs to date and the extent to which they have achieved their objectives and improved the outcomes of trade negotiations It proposes several ways in which Trade SIAs could be made more effective and illustrates these in respect of controversial sectors in which trade liberalisation has been implemented or proposed including commodities services and investment Finally the book makes proposals beyond SIA through which some of the conflicts between trade liberalization and sustainable development could be more effectively addressed Written by top researchers and experts on trade SIAs this book is vital for researchers academics post graduate students and policy makers working on any aspect of impact assessment international trade or globalisation more generally In addition the book will provide a particularly useful background for those considering how the environment and trade interrelate at both global and regional levels with some particular insights on climate change and trade policies

Development, Trade, and the WTO Bernard M. Hoekman, Aaditya Mattoo, Philip English, 2002 Publisher s description

Developing countries are increasingly confronted with the need to address trade policy related issues in international agreements most prominently the World Trade Organization WTO New WTO negotiations on a broad range of subjects were launched in November 2001 Determining whether and how international trade agreements can support economic development is a major challenge Stakeholders in developing countries must be informed on the issues and understand how their interests can be pursued through international cooperation This handbook offers guidance on the design of trade policy reform surveys key disciplines and the functioning of the World Trade Organization WTO and discusses numerous issues and options that confront developing countries in using international cooperation to improve domestic policy and obtain access to export markets Many of the issues discussed are also relevant in the context of regional integration agreements Separate sections of the handbook summarize what constitutes sound trade policy the major aspects of the WTO from a development perspective policy issues in the area of merchandise trade and the liberalization of international transactions in services protection of intellectual property rights and economic development new regulatory subjects that are emerging in the agenda of trade talks and enhancing participation of developing countries in the global trading system
