an author who overturned the conventions of autobiographical form Her versatility across genres did not represent brief sidesteps temporary diversions from what has long been read as her primary role as novelist Each was pursued fully and whole heartedly speaking to Wharton s very sense of herself as an artist and her connected vision of artistry and art The stories of these other Edith Whartons born through her extraordinary dexterity across a wide range of genres and their impact on our understanding of her career are the focus of this new study revealing a bolder more diverse subversive and radical writer than has long been supposed The Making of Americans in Paris Noel Sloboda,2008 While living in Paris at the beginning of the twentieth century expatriate American writers Edith Wharton 1862 1937 and Gertrude Stein 1874 1946 never crossed paths Even so they did rub shoulders in print in autobiographical essays published by The Atlantic Monthly in 1933 Noel Sloboda shows that the authors pursued many of the same professional goals in these essays and in the book length life writings that grew out of them A Backward Glance 1934 and The Autobiography of Alice B Toklas 1933 By analyzing the personal and cultural contexts in which these works were produced as well as subjects common to both of them Sloboda illuminates a previously unrecognized solidarity between Wharton and Stein The relationship between the authors is built upon careful analysis of A Backward Glance and The Autobiography of Alice B Toklas and it is framed by a consideration of the markets into which their life writings were first released The alignment of Wharton and Stein as life writers will be of interest to those studying autobiography modern literature and American women writers The Chronology of American Literature Daniel S. A Backward Glance O'er Travel'd Roads Jack Foley,2021-02 A Backward Glance O'er Travel'd Roads title from Whitman is a companion volume to poet Jack Foley's autobiography The Light of Evening As the autobiography treats the events of Foley's life A Backward Glance treats his intellectual history Poetry arrived in Foley's consciousness in more or less the same way that the words Saul Saul why dost thou persecute me arrived in the consciousness of the apostle Paul on the road to Damascus At the age of fifteen Foley like most of his friends thought of poetry as more or less inconsequential old fashioned dull A teacher's suggestion that he read Thomas Gray's Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard 1750 changed all that The poem seemed to me the most beautiful sound I had ever heard It affected me so deeply that I wanted it to have come out of me not out of Thomas Gray and I immediately sat down and wrote my own Gray's Elegy in the same stanzaic form and with the same rhyme scheme as the original I understood the state of mind named in Gray's Elegy to be the state of mind of poetry itself and in reacting so deeply to it I understood myself to be a poet On the face of it it seemed like an extremely unlikely event Thomas Gray was an English poet a letter writer a Classical scholar and a professor at Pembroke College Cambridge Foley was an ambitious Irish Italian working class kid who was aware of what the British had done to the Irish Yet at such life changing moments none of that mattered To be a poet meant to change your life The fifteen year old half Irish child suddenly transformed himself into an adult eighteenth century British formalist From there Foley began to interrogate the entire history of poetry The story of Foley's spiritual history is the story of his finding what Wallace Stevens called what will suffice The range of his mind moved into radical poetic innovation as well as into deeply traditional modes and a recognition of the legacy of Modernism At age eighty Foley has led a unique life as a writer performer of poetry a radio host and an all around West Coast gadfly of the poetic establishment If you want the interesting events of his life read The Light of Evening If you want the life of his mind read A Backward Glance O'er Travel'd Roads Edith Wharton and the Art of Concealment Deborah Lichtman,1990 Quarterly Bulletin Berkshire Athenaeum and Museum,1929 Auto/biography Studies ,1998 The Open Shelf ,1929 Reports of the Library Trustees and the Librarian and a List of Accessions to the Library for the Year Ending ... Weston Public Library (Mass.),1928 Walt Whitman and Leaves of Grass W.
