Luckily for him, overcoming the first obstacle helped him find the answer to the other. NPR As a teenager, Coss Marte was flying high on New York's Lower East Side as a drug dealer, making money hand over fist. But after watching his life and those of his loved ones fall apart, he realized things had to change. That change occurred when he was sentenced to prison. Within the space of his own cell and without workout equipment, Coss took the initiative to improve his circumstances and created ConBody, a bodyweight-only approach to fitness. This plan helped him drop 70 pounds from his dangerously obese frame, reversing a negative health prognosis of surviving the next five years. Once he saw that his workout plan was not only effective but accessible, he knew he'd found a pathway to health and ultimately to a new life and designed a regimen to train his fellow inmates. When he left prison, he returned to the Lower East Side but not to his criminal career. Instead, he worked out in his old hangouts and gained a small following that turned into an acclaimed business, winning entrepreneurial awards and the support of Shark Tank's Barbara Corcoran. Coss's method works. These exercises are for anyone, anywhere. All you need is yourself and the space of a jail cell to get started. It's perfect for busy lifestyles on the go and can be done in hotel rooms, small apartments, and in your backyard. With fun, engaging exercises, ConBody: The Revolutionary Bodyweight Boot Camp will help give you the extraordinary hope and resilience to improve your health and life. Parents, 1987 New Woman, 1998 Kiplinger's Personal Finance, 2006-09 The most trustworthy source of information available today on savings and investments, taxes, money management, home ownership, and many other personal finance topics. Atlanta Magazine, 2008-07 Atlanta magazine's editorial mission is to engage our community through provocative writing, authoritative reporting, and superlative design that illuminate the people, the issues, the trends, and the events that define our city.
