Alexander Eugen Conrady

Camera Obscura 43:

Giants of Delft Robert D. Huerta, 2003 In a widely researched and deeply considered book Huerta argues that Vermeer's use of the camera obscura and other instrumental adjuncts parallels van Leeuwenhoek's pursuit of the optical way and embodies a profound philosophical connection between these investigators Analyzing Vermeer's work Huerta shows that the artist's choices were the result of his personal response to contemporary scientific discoveries and the work of men such as van Leeuwenhoek Christiaan Huygens and Galileo Galilei Furthermore Huerta compares Vermeer's program of informed observation to the methods used by van Leeuwenhoek and other scientists to accumulate and analyze instrument-mediated knowledge This approach enabled Vermeer to confront the same issues as natural philosophers regarding the interpretation of unfamiliar images presented by instrumental systems BOOK JACKET

3D Jens Schröter, 2014-01-30 There is a blind spot in recent accounts of the history theory and aesthetics of optical media namely the field of the three-dimensional or trans-plane image It has been widely used in the 20th century for very different practices military scientific and medical visualization precisely because it can provide more spatial information And now in the 21st century television and film are employing the method even more Appearing for the first time in English Jens Schroeter's comprehensive study of the aesthetics of the 3D image is a major scholarly addition to this evolving field Citing case studies from the history of both technology and the arts this wide-ranging and authoritative book charts the development in the theory and practice of three-dimensional images Discussing and analyzing the transformation of the socio-cultural and technological milieu Schroeter has produced a work of scholarship that combines impressive historical scope with contemporary theoretical arguments
