Semantic Service Integration for Smart Grids S. Rohjans, IOS Press, 2012-12-13 The scope of the research presented includes semantic based integration of data services in smart grids achieved through following the proposed S2 In approach developed corresponding to design science guidelines This approach identifies standards and specifications which are integrated in order to build the basis for the S2 In architecture A process model is introduced in the beginning which serves as framework for developing the target architecture The first step of the process stipulates to define requirements for smart grid ICT architectures being derived from established studies and divided into two classes architecture and non functional requirements NFR Based on the architecture requirements the following specifications have been basically selected The IEC CIM representing a domain specific data model the OPC UA being a communication standard with special respects to information modeling and WSMO as an approach to realize the concept of Semantic Web Services The next step specifies to develop both a semantic information model integration of CIM and OPC UA and semantic services integration of CIM and WSMO These two components are then combined to obtain the target architecture which allows precise descriptions of services as well as their combination and semi automatic execution Finally the NFR are considered in order to evaluate the architecture based on simulated representative use cases Changing the

Ways We Work Nils Mårtensson, Ronald Mackay, S. Björgvinsson, 1998 This book highlights the effects of an increasing use of information technology IT in manufacturing Mainly focus is on the changes in organisation in working procedures and in the demands on the capabilities of the personnel both on the shop floor and the engineering and management levels It disseminates information from the research and development carried out under ESPRIT s Integration in Manufacturing domain as well as from other activities in similar domains in industry and academia A particular focus is on giving an overview and resume of work undertaken in the Third and Fourth Research Framework Programmes of ESPRIT

Balanced Automation Systems II Luis M. Camarinha-Matos, Hamideh Afsarmanesh, 2013-06-29 xiv box for Balanced Automation research in this area is still young and emerging In our opinion the development of hybrid balanced solutions to cope with a variety of automation levels and manual approaches is a much more challenging research problem than the search for a purely automatic solution Various research activities described in this book illustrate some of these challenges through the development proposals assisting tools and initial results In certain chapters however the balancing aspects are not yet achieved in the research area but their inclusion in this book is intended to give a broader and more comprehensive perspective of the multiple areas involved One important aspect to be noticed is the extension and application of the concept of balanced automation to all areas of the manufacturing enterprise Clearly the need for a balanced approach is not restricted to the shop floor components rather it applies to all other areas as illustrated by the wide spectrum of research contributions found in this book For instance the need for an appropriate integration of multiple systems and their perspectives is particularly important for the implantation of virtual enterprises Although both the BASYS 95 and the BASYS 96 conferences have provided important contributions approaches and tools for the implantation of balanced automation systems there are a number of areas that require further research
