Cinema Graphy Using Film To Teach Composition:

Negotiating a Meta-Pedagogy Toni Glover, Emily Golson, 2009-03-26 A vital new resource for rhetoric and composition teachers and writing program administrators has arrived In the twenty years I have been training teachers and tutors of writing there have been few collections that specifically address the training of teachers of composition While excellent such collections are often not updated to reflect the most current research in rhetoric and composition especially those theoretical and pedagogical influences that Negotiating a Meta Pedagogy includes It is not surprising then that training composition teachers is often dependent upon cobbled together course packs and anecdotal pedagogy The field needs this book and each contribution the editors have chosen significantly helps ratchet up the pedagogy of pedagogy and now rhetoric long considered a meta discipline by those of us in the field has an official meta pedagogy resource to call its own Cynthia Haynes Clemson University Composition and Rhetoric in Contentious Times Rachel McCabe, Jennifer Juskiewicz, 2023-11-01 Composition and Rhetoric in Contentious Times poses critical questions of representation accessibility social justice affect and labor to better understand the entwined future of composition and rhetoric This collection of essays offers innovative approaches for socially attuned learning and best practices to support administrators and instructors In doing so these essays guide educators in empowering students to write effectively and prepare for their role as global citizens Editors Rachel McCabe and Jennifer Juskiewicz consider how educators can respond to multiple current crises relating to composition and rhetoric with generosity and cautious optimism in the process they address the current concerns about the longevity of the humanities By engaging with social constructivist critical race socioeconomic and activist pedagogies each chapter provides an answer to the question How can our courses help students become stronger writers while contending with current social environmental and ethical questions posed by the world around them The contributors consider this question from numerous perspectives recognizing the important ways that power and privilege affect our varying means of addressing this question Relying on both theory and practice Composition and Rhetoric in Contentious Times engages the future of composition and rhetoric as a discipline shaped by recent and current global events This text appeals to early career writing program administrators writing center directors and professional specialists as well as Advanced Placement high school instructors graduate students and faculty teaching graduate level pedagogy courses Cinema-\(to\)-graphy Ellen Bishop, 1999 Film is simply too big and too influential a mass medium to ignore Surprisingly enough although film is already a staple in many composition classrooms little has been written about its uses leaving many of us uncertain of how to proceed Cinema to Graphy takes you inside some of those classrooms offering new ideas on integrating film and other visual media with student writing Ellen Bishop divides the book into four sections based on where the authors locate themselves in the field of film and writing These essays if anything resist easy categorization all of them begin to unfold both theoretical and practical questions that arise from the conversation about film and writing cultural studies and undergraduate students

These instructors offer special insight into both course structures and materials and the methods through which they make use of them Best of all they offer new strategies to help students become critical thinkers who can responsibly speak to and read their media saturated world and who can identify and work with the problems posed by language This anthology will be of great use to university and college teachers of all ranks especially graduate student teachers interested in integrating film into their composition classrooms Rewriting Resistance to Social Justice Pedagogies Wilton S. Wright,2024-08-19

Resistance to feminist queer and antiracist pedagogies can take many forms in the composition class silence during class discussion tepid bland writing that fails to engage with course content refusal to engage with feminist and queer ideas open and direct challenges to professors authority Rewriting Resistance to Social Justice Pedagogies argues that composition studies has not adequately addressed the complex and deeply local contexts and causes of resistance Therefore the author argues that resistance research must first understand the origins and purpose for a student s resistance interrogating the language used to name and describe students who resist Composition instructors must then give students the tools to uncover and investigate their reasons for resistance themselves challenging students to continually interrogate their resistances This book utilizes feminist composition pedagogies masculinity studies and queer pedagogies to engage student resistance in the writing classroom Teaching Composition Gary Tate,1976 Forum ,1982 Amateur Movie Makers ,1930 A Guidebook for Teaching Composition Gene Stanford,Marie N.
