Later houses changed depending on the social class of the family living in them, but they usually had rectangular shapes. Most common building materials were adobe, wood and straw for small rural houses lighted with torches. Houses for urban and powerful areas were built of stone and had many rooms around one or two courtyards. Furniture was scarce, stored possessions being in Royal Palaces and nobility houses. The Aztec built a parallel complement along with the stone houses: reed rafts. The walls heat up and changed colour to red, when water was poured on them from the inside, a ritual ritual of water vapour emerged.

the water is being used for drinking and bathing and is transported by reed rafts and canoes.
