G. Kelley,Karen Sotiropoulos,2003 From its inception black studies has been transnational Pioneering intellectuals such as W E B Du Bois George Washington Williams Anna Julia Cooper Nicolas Guillen C L R James Oliver Cox and Zora Neale Hurston shared a transnational sensibility shaped by the antiracist and anti imperialist politics of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries In recent years however much scholarship regarding blackness has been presented under the rubric of pan Africanism or the African diaspora terms that imply an inquiry solely into what it means to be of Africa Increasingly in an era of globalization and postcolonialism such terms have become insufficient for capturing what it means to be black in a global context Transnational black studies an interdisciplinary arena of knowledge rooted in political struggle has reemerged to rectify this discursive insufficiency in contemporary scholarship The essays interviews and reviews in this special issue of Radical History Review represent the best of the new of this very old tradition of transnational black studies One contributor explores how racial citizenship the idea of belonging and solidarity across the black world developed as a result of knowledge formed out of transnational linkages is employed by Cubans of color fighting against racial discrimination in public spaces in Havana Another by outlining a research agenda for the study of African slavery in the Middle East and South Asia reminds us that the Africa diaspora is global In a discussion of a paradigm shift from the national to the global yet another author makes a singular contribution to this collection by locating new spaces for identity formation in transit Contributors Martha Biondi Anthony Bogues Ashley Dawson James Early Mary F E Ebeling Kevin Gaines Van Gosse Frank A Guridy Joseph E Harris Douglas M Haynes Joseph Heathcott Harvey Neptune Michelle Stephens   A Life of the Dead Gauti Sigthorsson,2004   The Re-Enchantment of the West Christopher Partridge,2004 Challenging some assessments of religion in the West this study argues that although much organized religion particularly Christianity is in numerical decline in actual fact we are witnessing an alternative spiritual re enchantment of society and culture   Thinking Otherwise David J. Gunkel,2007 Thinking Otherwise is a unique and revealing look at the philosophical dimensions of information and communication technology ICT Among thinkers the importance of what transpires within the virtual world is the effect these activities have on real human beings who exist outside of and beyond the computer generated virtual environment Obviously the result of ICT interactions can lead to good or bad outcomes Gunkel however is not concerned about deciding which argument is more compelling but how these arguments are organised articulated and configured This approach entails challenging criticizing and even changing the terms and conditions of the discourse itself For example the binary nature of computer logic tends to colour debate about subsequent issues by portraying each side as the antithesis of the other That is the switch is turned on or off Thinking Otherwise investigates the unique quandaries complications and possibilities introduced by a form of otherness that veils through technology the identity of the Other Therefore Gunkel formulates alternative ways of proceeding to take into account additional forms of otherness Gunkel submits traditional forms of philosophical reasoning to a critical reevaluation caused by opportunities made available with information technology and also develops alternative ways of thinking that are oriented otherwise
