Computers And The Performing Arts:

Computers and the Performing Arts Lou Moore, Nancy Kassak, 1980 Computers as Theatre Brenda Laurel, 2013-09-27 Brenda Laurel's Computers as Theatre revolutionized the field of human computer interaction offering ideas that inspired generations of interface and interaction designers and continue to inspire them. Laurel's insight was that effective interface design like effective drama must engage the user directly in an experience involving both thought and emotion. Her practical conclusion was that a user's enjoyment must be a paramount design consideration and this demands a deep awareness of dramatic theory and technique both ancient and modern. Now two decades later Laurel has revised and revamped her influential work reflecting back on enormous change and personal experience and forward toward emerging technologies and ideas that will transform human computer interaction yet again. Beginning with a clear analysis of classical drama theory Laurel explores new territory through the lens of dramatic structure and purpose. Computers as Theatre Second Edition is directed to a far wider audience, is written more simply and elegantly, is packed with new examples and is replete with exciting and important new ideas. This book draws lessons from massively multiplayer online games and systems, social networks and mobile devices with embedded sensors. Integrates values driven design as a key principle. Integrates key ideas about virtual reality. Covers new frontiers including augmented reality, distributed and participatory sensing, interactive public installations and venues and design for emergence. Once more Brenda Laurel will help you see the connection between humans and computers as you never have before and help you build interfaces and interactions that are pleurably joyously right.

Sightlines for the Performing Arts Peter H. Frink, 1967 Information Technologies for Performing Arts, Media Access, and Entertainment Paolo Nesi, Raffaella Santucci, 2013-07-29 This book contains revised selected papers from the Second International Conference on Information Technologies for Performing Arts, Media Access and Entertainment ECLAP 2013 held in Porto Portugal in April 2013. The 24 papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in this book. They are organized in topical sections named perspectives and digital strategies for cultural heritage institutions, trust, quality and tools for cultural heritage, digital libraries, educational services for the performing arts, dance in the world of data and objects, acting and natural interaction and music and opera of a digital generation.

People and Computers XVIII - Design for Life Sally Fincher, Panos Markopoulos, David Moore, Roy Ruddle, 2007-03-11 The eighteenth annual British HCI Conference chose as its theme Design for Life. Life has many facets from work of course or should we say inevitably to travel, fun and other forms of leisure. We selected 23 full papers out of 63 submitted which covered our interaction with computer systems in a variety of types of life situation including games, tourism and certain types of work and also covered a variety of stages in our lives from the young to the elderly. These papers were complemented by others that described more traditional aspects of research in the field of human computer interaction. In putting together the programme we followed a three stage process First each paper was reviewed by at least three reviewers Then a member of the committee conducted a meta review Finally all sets of reviews were considered by the technical chairs who assembled a programme that was submitted to and approved by the full committee This process was greatly assisted by the use of the Precision Conference Solutions web based submission system Even more important of course were the volunteer reviewers themselves In recognition this year we have made an award for the best reviewer as well as one for the best paper

Computers and Art Stuart Mealing, 2002 Computers and Art provides insightful perspectives on the use of the computer as a tool for artists The approaches taken vary from its historical philosophical and practical implications to the use of computer technology in art practice The contributors include an art critic an educator a practising artist and a researcher Mealing looks at the potential for future developments in the field looking at both the artistic and the computational aspects of the field

Performing Mixed Reality Steve Benford, Gabriella Giannachi, 2022-11-01 A computer scientist and a performance and new media theorist define and document the emerging field of mixed reality performance Working at the cutting edge of live performance an emerging generation of artists is employing digital technologies to create distinctive forms of interactive distributed and often deeply subjective theatrical performance The work of these artists is not only fundamentally transforming the experience of theater it is also reshaping the nature of human interaction with computers In this book Steve Benford and Gabriella Giannachi offer a new theoretical framework for understanding these experiences which they term mixed reality performances and document a series of landmark performances and installations that mix the real and the virtual live performance and interactivity Benford and Giannachi draw on a number of works that have been developed at the University of Nottingham's Mixed Reality Laboratory describing collaborations with artists most notably the group Blast Theory that have gradually evolved a distinctive interdisciplinary approach to combining practice with research They offer detailed and extended accounts of these works from different perspectives including interviews with the artists and Mixed Reality Laboratory researchers The authors develop an overarching theory to guide the study and design of mixed reality performances based on the approach of interleaved trajectories through hybrid structures of space time interfaces and roles Combinations of canonical participant and historic trajectories show how such performances establish complex configurations of real and virtual local and global factual and fictional and personal and social
