Computers In Government And The Military:

Computers in Government and the Military Richard B. Lyttle,1984-01-01 Describes the present day use of computers and other electronic devices by the government and the military and speculates on the extent of their use in the future

Military and Civilian Control of Computer Security Issues United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Operations. Legislation and National Security Subcommittee,1989 The Effects of Military and Other Government Spending on the Computer Industry Susan Schechter,Rand Corporation,1989 Focusing on the early years of computer development late 1940s to mid 1950s this paper analyzes the role that government especially the Department of Defense played as a sponsor of university and corporate computer research and development efforts The study examines the position of dominance the United States held in the computer industry by the late 1950s and retains today attempting to analyze how much of this is due to early government support The author suggests that while U S dominance in the international computer market has eroded it is not likely to lose that dominance in the near future Rand abstracts Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals ,1989 The Computer in the United States James W. Cortada,2016-09-16 This book studies how a technological innovation in this case the computer progresses from its origin as an idea in someone s mind to its eventual manifestation as a useable and marketable consumer product

The Films of Charles and Ray Eames Eric Schuldenfrei,2014-12-05 The Films of Charles and Ray Eames traces the history of the Eameses work examining their evolution away from the design of mass produced goods and toward projects created as educational experiences Closely examining how the Eameses described their work reveals how the films and exhibitions they generated were completely at odds with the earlier objectives exemplified in their furniture designs Shifting away from promoting the consumer culture they turned their attention to the presentation of complex sets of scientific artistic and philosophical ideas During a critical period from the late 1950s to the early 1960s there was a moment of introspective self reflection in the West stemming from the events of the Cold War This moment of uncertainty was crucial for it provided the incentive to question the values and concerns of society as a whole In turn designers began to question their own sense of purpose temporarily expanding the purview of design to a broader field of inquiry In the case of the Eameses they identified an overriding problem related to consumerism and excess in America and sought to resolve the issue by creating a network of communication between universities governments institutions and corporations The solution of promoting greater education experiences as an alternative to consumerism in America required that different sectors of society functioned in unison to address political social economic and educational concerns The Films of Charles and Ray Eames reconsiders how design intersects with humanity culture and the sciences Computers in Our World Course Technology,Lisa Strite Jedlicka,Tim J.
