Computational Learning Theory Eurocolt 93:

Computational Learning Theory John Shawe-Taylor, Martin Anthony, 1994 The study of machine learning within the mathematical framework of complexity theory has seen great strides in just a few short years spurred on by the tremendous rise in interest from engineers studying control to analysts predicting financial market activity Based on the first European Conference on Computational Learning Theory and including a number of invited contributions Computational Learning Theory offers an outstanding overview of the subject with topics ranging from results inspired by neural network research to those originating from more classical artificial intelligence approaches It will appeal to students and researchers in applied mathematics computer science and cognitive science

Computational Learning Theory, 2001

Algorithmic Learning Theory Shai Ben David, John Case, Akira Maruoka, 2004-09-23 Algorithmic learning theory is mathematics about computer programs which learn from experience This involves considerable interaction between various mathematical disciplines including theory of computation statistics and combinatorics There is also considerable interaction with the practical empirical fields of machine and statistical learning in which a principal aim is to predict from past data about phenomena useful features of future data from the same phenomena The papers in this volume cover a broad range of topics of current research in the field of algorithmic learning theory We have divided the 29 technical contributed papers in this volume into eight categories corresponding to eight sessions reflecting this broad range The categories featured are Inductive Inference Approximate Optimization Algorithms Online Sequence Prediction Statistical Analysis of Unlabeled Data PAC Learning Boosting Statistical supervised Learning LogicBased Learning and Query Reinforcement Learning Below we give a brief overview of the field placing each of these topics in the general context of the field Formal models of automated learning reflect various facets of the wide range of activities that can be viewed as learning A first dichotomy is between viewing learning as an indefinite process and viewing it as a finite activity with a defined termination Inductive Inference models focus on indefinite learning processes requiring only eventual success of the learner to converge to a satisfactory conclusion

Boolean Models and Methods in Mathematics, Computer Science, and Engineering Yves Crama, Peter L. Hammer, 2010-06-28 A collection of papers written by prominent experts that examine a variety of advanced topics related to Boolean functions and expressions
