Dolores Keane In Concert:

The Irishness of Irish Music John O'Flynn, 2017-07-05 This book brings together important material from a range of sources and highlights how government organizations musicians academics and commercial companies are concerned with and seek to use a particular notion of Irish musical identity Rooting the study in the context of the recent history of popular traditional and classical music in Ireland as well as providing an overview of aspects of the national field of music production and consumption O Flynn goes on to argue that the relationship between Irish identity and Irish music emerges as a contested site of meaning His analysis exposes the negotiation and articulation of civic ethnic and economic ideas within a shifting hegemony of national musical culture and finds inconsistencies between and among symbolic constructions of Irish music and observed patterns in the domestic field More specifically O Flynn illustrates how settings genres social groups and values can influence individual identifications or negations of Irishness in music While the apprehension of intra musical elements leads to perceptions of music that sounds Irish style and authenticity emerge as critical articulatory principles in the identification of music that feels Irish The celebratory and homogenizing discourse associated with the international success of some Irish musical forms is not reflected in the opinions of the people interviewed by O Flynn at the same time an insider outsider dialectic of national identity is found in various forms of discourse about Irish music Performers and composers discussed include Bill Whelan Riverdance Sinead O Connor The Corrs Altan U2 Martin Hayes Dolores Keane and Gerald Barry

The Globalization of Irish Traditional Song Performance Susan H. Motherway, 2016-03-09 In The Globalization of Irish Traditional Song Performance Susan Motherway examines the ways in which performers mediate the divide between local and global markets by negotiating this dichotomy in performance practice In so doing she discusses the globalizing processes that exert transformative influences upon traditional musics and examines the response to these influences by Irish traditional song performers In developing this thesis the book provides an overview of the genre and its subgenres illustrates patterns of musical change extant within the tradition as a result of globalization and acknowledges music as a medium for re negotiating an Irish cultural identity within the global Given Ireland's long history of emigration and colonisation globalization is recognised as both a synchronic and a diachronic phenomenon Motherway thus examines Anglo Irish song and songs of the Irish Diaspora Her analysis reaches beyond essentialist definitions of the tradition to examine evolving sub genres such as Country Irish Celtic and World Music She also recognizes the singing traditions of other ethnic groups on the island of Ireland including Orange Order Ulster Scots and Traveller song In so doing she shows the disparity between native conceptions and native realities in respect to Irish cultural Identity
