Ezra Pound: Poet A. David Moody,2015-09-24 This third and final volume of A David Moody s critical life of Ezra Pound presents Pound s personal tragedy in a tragic time In this volume we experience the 1939 1945 World War and Pound s hubristic involvement in Fascist Italy s part in it we encounter the grave moral and intellectual error of Pound holding the Jewish race responsible for the war and his consequent downfall being charged with treason condemned as an anti Semite and shut up for twelve years in an institution for the insane Further we see Pound stripped for life by his own counsel and wife of his civil and human rights Pound endured what was inflicted upon him justly and unjustly without complaint and continued his lifetime s effort to promote in and through his Cantos and his translations a consciousness of a possible humane and just social order The contradictions run deep and compel as tragedy does a steady and unprejudiced contemplation and an answering depth of comprehension The Beloit Poetry Journal ,1970 First Printings of American Authors ,1977 Robert Creeley Arthur Lewis Ford,1978 The Transformation of the Field in Black Mountain Poetry Anne Day Dewey,1994 A Sense of Measure Robert Creeley,1972 Using the highly condensed allusive and personal style that marks his poetry Mr Creeley illuminates many areas of the writer s work not from the objective didactic viewpoint of a critic but from the subjective attitude of a creative artist who has given deep thought to the wellsprings of his art and problems of content technique and style Among the specific topics he deals with are the relation of language to reality the objects of poetry the place of order logic and reason in creative writing of any kind the difference between poetry and any other kind of writing the revolution in literary style initiated by William Burroughs and his followers the subjective motivations of a poet his own artistic development and the relation between his political and ethical beliefs and personal experience of life to his art Back cover American & British Literature, 1945-1975 John L.
