A Rainbow For The Christian West:

Rainbow for the Christian West, 1972-01-01 A Rainbow for the Christian West/ Rene Depestre; Translated with an Introduction by Joan Dayan Depestre Rene, 1977 A Rainbow for the Christian West René Depestre, 1977

From René Depestre's Rainbow for the Christian West René Depestre, 2006 The Haitian Revolution in the Literary Imagination Philip Kaisary, 2014-02-21

The Haitian Revolution 1791-1804 reshaped the debates about slavery and freedom throughout the Atlantic world. It accelerated the abolitionist movement, precipitated rebellions in neighboring territories, and intensified both repression and antislavery sentiment. The story of the birth of the world's first independent black republic has since held an iconic fascination for a diverse array of writers, artists, and intellectuals throughout the Atlantic diaspora. Examining twentieth-century responses to the Haitian Revolution, Philip Kaisary offers a profound new reading of the representation of the Revolution by radicals and conservatives alike in primary texts that span English, French, and Spanish languages and that include poetry, drama, history, biography, fiction, and opera. In a complementary focus on canonical works by Aimé Césaire, C. L. R. James, Édouard Glissant, and Alejo Carpentier, in addition to the work of René Depestre, Langston Hughes, and Madison Smartt Bell, Kaisary argues that the Haitian Revolution generated an enduring cultural and ideological inheritance. He addresses critical understandings and fictional reinventions of the Revolution and thinks through how and to what effect authors of major diasporic texts have metamorphosed and appropriated this spectacular corner of black revolutionary history.

A Pepper-pot of Cultures Gordon Collier, Ulrich Fleischmann, 2003

The terms creole and creolization have witnessed a number of significant semantic changes in the course of their history. Originating in the vocabulary associated with colonial expansion in the Americas, it had been successively narrowed down to the field of black American culture or of particular linguistic phenomena. Recently, creole has expanded again to cover the broad area of cultural contact and transformation characterizing the processes of globalization initiated by the colonial migrations of past centuries. The present volume is intended to illustrate these various stages, either by historical and/or theoretical discussion of the concept or through selected case studies. The authors are established scholars from the areas of literature, linguistics, and cultural studies; they all share a lively and committed interest in the Caribbean area, certainly not the only or even oldest realm in which processes of creolization have shaped human societies, but one that offers, by virtue of its history of colonialization and cross-cultural contact, its most pertinent example. The collection, beyond its theoretical interest, thus also constitutes an important survey of Caribbean studies in Europe and the Americas. As well as searching overview essays, there are sociolinguistic contributions on the linguistic geography of criollo in Spanish America, the Limonese creole speakers of Costa Rica, creole language and identity in the Netherlands Antilles, and the affinities between Papiamentu and Chinese in Curaçao. Ethnohistorical examinations of such topics as creole transgression in the Dominican-Haitian borderland, the Haitian Mandingo, and African fundamentalism, creolization and identity in West-Central Jamaica, Afro-Nicaraguans, and national
