Absence makes the heart grow fonder.

Actions speak louder than words.

A friend in need is a friend indeed.

All's fair in love and war.

Give someone an inch, they will take a mile.

All's well that ends well.

Honesty is the best policy.

Beggars can't be choosers.

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

Better late than never.

Better safe than sorry.

Blood is thicker than water.

Early American Proverbs and Proverbial Phrases Bartlett Jere Whiting, 1977 p B J Whiting savors proverbial expressions and has devoted much of his lifetime to studying and collecting them no one knows more about British and American proverbs than he The present volume based upon writings in British North America from the earliest settlements to approximately 1820 complements his and Archer Taylor's Dictionary of American Proverbs and Proverbial Phrases 1820-1880. It differs from that work and from other standard collections however in that its sources are primarily not literary but instead workaday writings: letters, diaries, histories, travel books, political pamphlets, and the like. The authors represent a wide cross-section of the populace from scholars and statesmen to farmers, shopkeepers, sailors, and hunters. Mr. Whiting has combed all the obvious sources and hundreds of out-of-the-way publications of local journals and historical societies. This body of material because it covers territory that has not been extracted and compiled in a scholarly way before can justly be said to be the most valuable of all those that Whiting has brought together according to Albert B. Friedman. What makes the work important is Whiting's authority: a proverb or proverbial phrase is what B. J. Whiting thinks is a proverb or proverbial phrase. There is no objective operative definition of any value; no divining rod; his tact, feel, experience determine what's the real thing and what is spurious.

A Dictionary of Anglo-American Proverbs & Proverbial Phrases, Found in Literary Sources of the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries George B. Bryan, Wolfgang Mieder, 2005. A Dictionary of Anglo-American Proverbs Proverbial Phrases Found in Literary Sources of the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries is a unique collection of proverbial language found in literary contexts. It includes proverbial materials from a multitude of plays, autobiographies of well-known actors like Britain's Laurence Olivier, songs by William S. Gilbert or Lorenz Hart, and American crime stories by Leslie Charteris. Other authors represented in the dictionary are Horatio Alger, Margery Allingham, Samuel Beckett, Lewis Carroll, Raymond Chandler, Benjamin Disraeli, Edward Eggleston, Hamlin Garland, Graham Greene, Thomas C. Haliburton, Bret Harte, Aldous Huxley, Sinclair Lewis, Jack London, George Orwell, Eden Phillpotts, John B. Priestley, Carl Sandburg, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Jesse Stuart, Oscar Wilde, and more. Many lesser-known dramatists, songwriters, and novelists are included as well, making the contextualized texts to a considerable degree representative of the proverbial language of the past two centuries. While the collection contains a proverbial treasure trove for paremiographers and paremiologists alike, it also presents general readers interested in folkloric, linguistic, cultural, and historical phenomena with an accessible and enjoyable selection of proverbs and proverbial phrases.

Proverbs Are The Best Policy Wolfgang Mieder, 2005-10-30 Mieder introduces this survey with an examination of what characterizes American proverbs what are their origins and how they have spread internationally with the expansion of America's political role He then turns to the origins and varied historical uses of what has become the defining proverb of American democracy government of the people by the people for the people The employment of proverbs had no brighter exponent among the nation's founding generation than Abigail Adams who was not without influence despite the exclusion from political office of women As they have for so much her abundant letters provide rich sources for politically charged proverbs Though it is especially associated with Abraham Lincoln a house divided against itself cannot stand is a biblical proverb that has proven of wide value as a political expression Frederick Douglass's proverbial prowess paralleled that of his contemporary Lincoln and he employed it effectively in his battle for civil rights Given proverbs enduring role in American politics it is an interesting exercise to compare how United States presidents have employed them in their inaugural addresses which have produced such gems as John F Kennedy's ask not dictum The bonds Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill formed through the World War II alliance were expressed in the proverbial language that frequently enlivened their correspondence Having addressed these aspects of the proverb in American politics Mieder winds up by considering the sociopolitical significance of the ambiguous proverb good fences make good neighbors
