Relations AnnKatrin Jonsson, 2006 In Relations AnnKatrin Jonsson develops a new understanding of ethics and subjectivity within high modernism The author analyzes Joyce s Ulysses Woolf s The Waves and Barnes s Nightwood as narratives that depict a subject turning towards the other and the world a movement that seriously questions the sovereignty of the subject as cogito instead opening up for otherness excess and indeterminacy The author points to convergences between a phenomenological manner of thinking found in modernist literature and the notion of an ethics and an ethical subjectivity a subject who exists in an inescapable relation with the world As the novels acknowledge otherness there is a rebound effect on the narrative its structure and style otherness transforms the narrative itself In this way Ulysses The Waves and Nightwood indicate a desire to escape from a notion of the subject that contains and controls the world and the other By indicating ways in which new conceptions of ethics are made possible within modernism the author also shows that there are within modernism both literary and philosophical texts whose understanding and representation of subjectivity already express and establish crucial aspects of the discourse on ethics and ethical subjectivity that characterize recent continental philosophy and cultural theory

Debating American Modernism Debra Bricker Balken, 2003 When Duchamp moved from Paris to New York in 1915 he was disappointed by the predominantly nature based abstraction he observed publicly proclaiming that American artists were too dependent on outmoded European traditions and had overlooked their greatest subjects the skyscraper and the machine Meanwhile the artists associated with Alfred Stieglitz and his 291 gallery remained loyal to their belief in nature as a source of ongoing renewal for visual culture and emphasized the crucial role that intuition and spirituality played in their creation of art The crossfire between Duchamp and Stieglitz and their respective circles defined a critical moment in early twentieth century American art Debating Modernism includes reproductions of work by artists from both camps from Charles Demuth Georgia O Keeffe and Paul Strand to Man Ray Francis Picabia and Marsden Hartley An essay by curator Debra Bricker Balken traces the threads of the debate through the 1910s and 20s and also addresses the appearance of sexualized imagery in nearly all of these artists works a phenomenon that ironically unifies the two seemingly opposed camps Jay Bochner s essay focuses on the artists respective violations of American expectations about art

The Eight and American Modernisms Peter John Brownlee, 2009 Frustrated by the art world s elitism and the snobbish exclusivity of the academy s juries eight American painters united in 1908 to upend the establish norms and stage their own exhibition of modernist art Led by the charismatic Robert Henri they came to be known as The Eight and their two week show at New York s Macbeth Galleries drew a multitude of visitors who crowded into the galleries to critique the much publicized work of these revolutionary artists Their paintings of urban scenes marked a significant departure from the prevailing style which emphasized physical and natural beauty and met with critical success The established chronicle maintains that the Eight were rendered dysfunctional and artistically irrelevant after European modernism arrived in the United States at the 1913 Armory Show The Eight and American Modernisms revises this account and reevaluates these respected artists careers including their late works Accompanying a traveling exhibition this lushly illustrated volume challenges the accepted wisdom about the evolution of the modernist style In addition to Henri The Eight included William Glackens George Luks Everett Shinn John French Sloan Arthur B Davies Ernest Lawson and Maurice Prendergast
