definition of identity on different levels It argues that the creation of a transnational European memory culture does not necessarily imply the erasure of national and local forms of remembrance It rather means the creation of a further supranational arena where diverging memories can find their expression and can be dealt with in a different way Through the triangulation of agents of memory construction constraints and opportunities and actual portrayals of the past this volume explores the difficulties faced by a multinational entity like the EU in reaching some kind of consensus on such a sensitive subject as history
