Barbara Jordan Voice Of Democracy:

Barbara Jordan Lisa Renee Rhodes,1998 Traces the life and work of this African American woman who was a respected politician teacher and spokeswoman for democracy Barbara Jordan Max Sherman,2010-01-01 A collection of speeches by the much admired congresswoman on the importance of ethics the threat of tyranny faith and politics and more Through her career as a Texas senator US congresswoman and distinguished professor at the Lyndon B Johnson School of Public Affairs Barbara Jordan lived by a simple creed Ethical behavior means being honest telling the truth and doing what you said you were going to do Her strong stand for ethics in government civil liberties and democratic values still provides a standard around which the nation can unite in the twenty first century This volume collects several major speeches that articulate her most deeply held values They include Erosion of Civil Liberties a commencement address delivered at Howard University on May 12 1974 in which Jordan warned that tyranny in America is possible The Constitutional Basis for Impeachment Jordan s ringing defense of the US Constitution before the House Judiciary Committee investigating the Watergate break in Keynote addresses to the 1976 and 1992 Democratic National Conventions in which Jordan set forth her vision of the party as an advocate for the common good and catalyst of change Testimony in the U S Congress on the confirmation of Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork and on immigration reform Meditations on faith and politics from two National Prayer Breakfasts Acceptance speech for the 1995 Sylvanus Thayer Award presented by the Association of Graduates of the United States Military Academy in which Jordan challenged the military to uphold the values of duty honor country Accompanying the speeches are context setting introductions by editor Max Sherman as well as the eloquent eulogy Bill Moyers delivered at Jordan s memorial service in which he summed up her remarkable life and career by saying Just when we despaired of finding a hero she showed up Rhetoric, History, and Women's Oratorical Education David Gold,Catherine L. Hobbs,2013-05-02 Historians of rhetoric have long worked to recover women s education in reading and writing but have only recently begun to explore women s speaking practices from the parlor to the platform to the varied types of institutions where women learned elocutionary and oratorical skills in preparation for professional and public life This book fills an important gap in the history of rhetoric and suggests new paths for the way histories may be told in the future tracing the shifting arc of women s oratorical training as it develops from forms of eighteenth century rhetoric into institutional and extrainstitutional settings at the end of the nineteenth century and diverges into several distinct streams of community embodied theory and practice in the twentieth Treating key rhetors genres settings and movements from the early republic to the present these essays collectively challenge and complicate many previous claims made about the stability and development of gendered public and private spheres the decline of oratorical culture and the limits of women s oratorical forms such as elocution and parlor rhetorics and women s responses to rhetorical constraints on their public speaking Enriching our understanding of women s oratorical education and practice this cutting edge work makes an important
