Barchas Collection The Making Of Moder:

The Barchas Collection, 1985 The Barchas Collection Stanford University. Libraries. Department of Special Collections, Henry Lowood, 1985 Book Arts Collections Edward Ripley-Duggan, 1988 In response to the present day revival of interest in fine printing and binding this unique volume highlights several of North America s special collections focusing on various aspects of the history and art of the book Experts describe the scope value and utility of diverse collections in Canada New York California Washington New Jersey and more that reflect the collecting interests of librarians and private donors Bibliophiles will be fascinated by the historical overviews of the collections on calligraphy papermaking bookbinding printing and illustration and the insight into the future direction of library acquisitions The addition of a list of readings provides a basic framework and helpful suggestions for further reading on the topics covered in this definitive book The Barchas Collection at Stanford University, 1999 Literary Coteries and the Making of Modern Print Culture Betty A. Schellenberg, 2016-06-06 Literary Coteries and the Making of Modern Print Culture offers the first study of manuscript producing coteries as an integral element of eighteenth century Britain s literary culture As a corrective to literary histories assuming that the dominance of print meant the demise of a vital scribal culture the book profiles four interrelated and influential coteries focusing on each group s deployment of traditional scribal practices on key individuals who served as bridges between networks and on the aesthetic and cultural work performed by the group The book also explores points of intersection between coteries and the print trade whether in the form of individuals who straddled the two cultures publishing events in which the two media regimes collaborated or came into conflict literary conventions adapted from manuscript practice to serve the ends of print or simply poetry hand copied from magazines Together these instances demonstrate how scribal modes shaped modern literary production This title is also available as Open Access Thornton and Tully's Scientific Books, Libraries and Collectors Andrew Hunter, 2016-12-05 In the 25 years since the last edition of Thornton and Tully s Scientific Books Libraries and Collectors was published scientific publishing has mushroomed developed new forms and the academic discipline and popular appreciation of the history of science have grown apace This fourth edition discusses these changes and ponders the implications of developments in publishing at the end of the twentieth century while concentrating its gaze upon the dissemination of scientific ideas and knowledge from Antiquity to the industrial age In this shift of focus it departs from previous editions and for the first time a chapter on Islamic science is included Recurrent themes in several of the ten essays in the present volume are the definition of science itself and its transmutation by publishing media and the social context Two essays on the collecting of scientific books provide a counterpoint and the book is grounded on a rigorous chapter on bibliographies The timely publication of Scientific Books Libraries and Collectors comes at the coincidence of the advent of electronic publishing and the millennium a dramatic moment at which to take stock The Great Art of Knowing Daniel Stolzenberg, Stanford University. Libraries, 2001 The Stanford University Libraries presented the exhibit The Great Art of Knowing The Baroque Encyclopedia of Athanasius Kircher commemorating the 400th anniversary of the renowned Jesuit's birth. The exhibit featured over 50 rare 17th and 18th century editions acquired by Stanford in 1998 from the collection of Ella and Bernard Mazel. The Great Art of Knowing was on view at Stanford University's Cecil H Green Library Peterson Gallery from April 22 to July 22 2001

The ALA Yearbook of Library and Information Services, 1986 Annual Report Stanford University. Libraries, 1978 Stanford, 1985 Archives of Data-Processing History James W. Cortada, 1990-04-24

The history of the computer and of the industry it spawned is the latest entrant into the field of historical studies. Scholars beginning to turn their attention to the subject of computing need James Cortada's Archives of Data Processing History as a brief introduction to sources immediately available for investigation. Each essay provides an overview of a major government, academic, or industrial archival collection dealing with the history of computing, the industry, and its leaders, and is written by the archivist/historian who has worked with or is responsible for the collection. The archives give practical information on hours, organization, contacts, telephone numbers, survey of contents, and assessments of the historical significance of the collections and their institutions. Reference and business librarians will definitely want to add this volume to their collections. Those interested in the history of technology, the business history of the industry, and the history of major institutions will want to consult it.

Edinburgh Companion to Jane Austen and the Arts Hannah Moss, Joe Bray, 2024-05-31

Jane Austen was a keen consumer of the arts throughout her lifetime. The Edinburgh Companion to Jane Austen and the Arts considers how Austen represents the arts in her writing, from her juvenilia to her mature novels. The thirty-three original chapters in this Companion cover the full range of Austen's engagement with the arts, including the silhouette and the caricature, crafts, theatre, fashion, music, and dance, together with the artistic potential of both interior and exterior spaces. This volume also explores her artistic afterlives in creative re-imaginings across different media, including adaptations and transpositions in film, television, theatre, digital platforms, and games.
