Coastal Lagoons:

Coastal Lagoons Michael J. Kennish, Hans W. Paerl, 2010-06-15 Written by an outstanding group of contributors this book examines the function and structure of coastal lagoonal ecosystems and the natural and anthropogenic drivers of change that affect them most notably nutrient over enrichment from coastal watersheds and airsheds The contributors target the susceptibility of coastal lagoons to eutrophication the indicators of eutrophic conditions the influences of natural factors such as major storms and other climate effects and the resulting biotic and ecosystem impairments that have developed The book compares biogeochemical and ecological response to nutrient enrichment and other pollutants in lagoonal estuaries to those in other estuarine types

Coastal Lagoons Carole Snyder, 2016 The term lagoon is derived from the Italian laguna which originally referred to the waters around Venice but currently denotes a variety of geomorphologically and ecologically defined systems including atoll lagoons and coastal lagoons While the former are restricted to tropical latitudes coastal lagoons are common features of the coasts of all continents occurring as they do along about 13 percent of the world's shorelines This book reviews the geology characteristics and diversity of coastal lagoons

Coastal Lagoons I. Ethem Gonenc, John P. Wolflin, 2004-12-16 Coastal Lagoons Ecosystem Processes and Modeling for Sustainable Use and Development describes the concepts models and data needed to design and implement management programs for long term sustainability of coastal lagoons Based on a project conducted under the auspices of NATO CCMS the book provides information and methodologies essential for Coastal Lagoons, a Symposium Agustín Ayala-Castañares,Agustín Ayala-Castañeras,Fred B. Phleger,1970 Mediterranean Coastal Lagoons S. Cataudella,Donatella Crosetti,Fabio Massa,2015 The Mediterranean region hosts around 400 coastal lagoons covering a surface of over 641 000 ha differing in both their typology and use Fisheries and various forms of aquaculture have been traditionally carried out in Mediterranean coastal lagoons since ancient times and are part of the cultural heritage of the region Traditional lagoon management linked to extensive aquaculture and fish harvesting has certainly contributed over time to preserve these peculiar ecosystems although much of the coastal lagoon areas have progressively disappeared due to land reclamation and other uses Recently coastal lagoons have become a relevant environmental concern land claiming pollution and the lack of management among other factors have strongly modified both the structure and functioning of these sensitive coastal ecosystems In particular the management of traditional aquaculture and capture fisheries activities has been identified as the main instrument to maintain lagoons ecological features and to prevent the degradation of their sensitive habitats both from an environmental and socioeconomic point of view To guarantee the sustainability of aquaculture and capture fisheries in lagoons proper management plans should be established so as to ensure the preservation of both biodiversity and local knowledge This should also be considered as a fundamental pillar for any programme aiming at the preservation and restoration of lagoons environment Publisher s description The Management of Coastal Lagoons and Enclosed Bays Jens C. Sorensen, Frank Gable, Francesco Bandarin,1993 Proceedings of Management of Coastal Lagoons and Enclosed Bays part of Coastal Zone 93 the Eighth Symposium on Coastal and Ocean Management held in New Orleans Louisiana July 19 23 1993 Part of the Coastlines of the World series This collection contains 18 papers reviewing the multidisciplinary aspects of coastal management of lagoons and enclosed bays Some of the topics include environmental considerations engineering and science data gathering and monitoring legal regulatory and political aspects of coastal management planning conservation and development and public information and citizen participation Coastal Lagoons, a Symposium Agustín Ayala-Castañares,Agustín Ayala-Castañeras,Fred B. Phleger,1970 Coastal Lagoons in Europe Geoffrey D. Gooch,2015-07-15 Lagoons represent nearly 13% of the shoreline globally and around 5% in Europe Coastal lagoons are shallow water bodies separated from the ocean by a barrier e g narrow spit connected at least intermittently to the ocean by one or more restricted inlets and usually geographically oriented parallel to the shore line Coastal lagoons are flexible and usually able to cope with environmental change yet nowadays they are under threat This is partly due to climate change impacts for example sea level rise and hydro meteorological extreme events but also due to more direct human activities and pressures The book focuses on addressing these challenges through integrated management strategies seen in a land sea and science stakeholder policy perspective Pan European management challenges are seen from the context of the perspectives of Policy Environment and Modelling Four case study lagoons in different geographical locations in Europe provide examples of some of the practical experiences and results around these challenges Possible impacts on drainage basins and lagoons are introduced through integrated scenarios which were developed through a multi science and land lagoon science perspective combined with interactions and contributions from stakeholders and citizens Issues around climate change impacts on environmental conditions in both drainage basins and lagoons are also included The book derives from a collaborative EC funded project entitled Integrated Water Resources and Coastal Zone Management in European Lagoons in the Context of Climate Change comprising nine partner institutes with a wide diversity in the scientific disciplines covered Editors Ana I Lillebo University of Aveiro Portugal Per Stalnacke Bioforsk Norwegian Institute for Agricultural and Environmental Research Norway Geoffrey D Gooch University of Dundee Scotland UK Coastal Lagoons R.
