Dunsfold Surrey's Most Secret Airfield 1942-1992:

New Lives, New Landscapes Revisited Linda M. Ross, Katrina Navickas, Ben Anderson, Matthew Kelly, 2023-06-08 How did rural Britain become modern during the twentieth century? New Lives, New Landscapes examines how the development of modern infrastructure in Britain transformed both its landscapes and the lives of those who lived within them. Shifting the focus away from the city, the narrative challenges us to rethink what we mean by modern Britain. The Front Line of Freedom Brian Short, C. Watkins, John Martin, 2006 This book drawing together the work of 15 scholars is the first attempt to discover what really happened during the war in British agriculture. It shows just how closely directed agriculture and individual farmers were in wartime and the determination with which uncooperative or failing farmers might be dispossessed. It describes the tensions between agriculture and the military showing how the ploughing up campaign added land to the national farm but just at the time when the military were taking it for airfields and training grounds. This revelatory book challenges received wisdom about farming in wartime. It is essential reading for all interested in the evolution of twentieth century farming and in the historical origins of farming's present predicament. The Aeronautical Journal, 1992

Aerospace, 1992 Dunsfold Paul McCue, 1992 Since its construction in 1942 Dunsfold aerodrome has always been cloaked in secrecy. Screened from public gaze by woodland and much of its work protected by the Official Secrets Act, the full story of Dunsfold has remained a mystery. Only now, with the declassification of records and the cooperation of many who have served and worked on the airfield over the past 55 years, can the story of Surrey's Most Secret Airfield and that of its units be told. The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1994
