Dying For Tomorrow:

Dying for Tomorrow Michael Moorcock, 1978 Living Up to Death Paul Ricoeur, 2010-04-15 When French philosopher Paul Ricoeur died in 2005 he bequeathed to the world a highly regarded widely influential body of work which established him as one of the greatest thinkers of our time He also left behind a number of unfinished projects that are gathered here and translated into English for the first time Living Up to Death consists of one major essay and nine fragments Composed in 1996 the essay is the kernel of an unrealized book on the subject of mortality Likely inspired by his wife s approaching death it examines not one s own passing but one s experience of others dying Ricoeur notes that when thinking about death the imagination is paramount since we cannot truly experience our own passing But those we leave behind do and Ricoeur posits that the idea of life after death originated in the awareness of our own end posthumously resonating with our survivors The fragments in this volume were written over the course of the last few months of Ricoeur s life as his health failed and they represent his very last work They cover a range of topics touching on biblical scholarship the philosophy of language and the idea of selfhood he first addressed in Oneself as Another And while they contain numerous philosophical insights these fragments are perhaps most significant for providing an invaluable look at Ricoeur s mind at work As poignant as it is perceptive Living Up to Death is a moving testimony to Ricoeur s willingness to confront his own mortality with serious questions a touching insouciance and hope for the future Formal Semantics Paul H. Portner, Barbara H. thinking about the future What constitutes environmentalist fiction and poetry What kind of texts themes and topics does climate writing include Does any text in which the environment features become available to environmentalist criticism In their engagement with the diverse genres themes and frameworks through which contemporary African writers address topics including urbanisation cross species communication nature and climate change contributors to this special issue help to define African environmental writing They look at the literary strategies adopted by creative writers to convey the impact of environmental transformation in narratives that are historically informed by a century of colonialism nationalist political activism urbanisation and postcolonial migration How does environmental literature intervene in these histories Can creative writers with their powerfully post human and cross species imaginations carry out the ethical work demanded by contemporary climate science From Tanure Ojaide's and Helon Habila's attention to environmental decimation in the Niger Delta through to Nnedi Okorafor's and Kofi Anyidoho's imaginative cross species encounters the special issue asks how literature mediates the specificities of climate change in an era of global capitalism and technological transformation and what the limits of creative writing and literary criticism are as tools for discussing environmental issues This volume also includes a Literary Supplement Guest Editors Cajetan Iheka Associate Professor of English Yale University and Stephanie Newell Professor of English Yale University Series Editor Ernest N Emenyonu Professor of Africana Studies at the University of Michigan Flint Reviews Editor Obi Nwakanma Fellow Department of English University of Central Florida

R. Dowty, 2012-12-06 The most general goal of this book is to propose and illustrate a program of research in word semantics that combines some of the methodology and results in linguistic semantics primarily that of the generative semantics school with the rigorously formalized syntactic and semantic framework for the analysis of natural languages developed by Richard Montague and his associates a framework in which truth and denotation with respect to a model are taken as the fundamental semantic notions I hope to show both from the linguist's and the philosopher's point of view not only why this synthesis can be undertaken but also why it will be useful to pursue it On the one hand the linguists' decompositions of word meanings into more primitive parts are by themselves inherently incomplete in that they deal only in distinctions in meaning without providing an account of what meanings really are Not only can these analyses be made complete by a model theoretic semantics but also such an account of these analyses renders them more exact and more readily testable than they could ever be otherwise
