

Richard Meier, A Duration.

touch. All this is in the text. At the body of a dead merganser in the sand, the white underbelly facing upward, I bent down and pulled gently on a wing feather, refusing the words that had come into me as I toward it, that bird feathers carry coming loose, as I'd ified and

Understanding Human Time Kasia M. Jaszczolt, 2023-05-02 This book explores the time that we think we experience and the concept of time in our beliefs our knowledge and our fears We believe that time passes we know that death is inevitable we fear that we are going to be late How do these human feelings and sensations of time relate to metaphysical time of tenseless reality What do different languages tell us about the nature of human time And what exactly is the flow of time The chapters in this volume bring together insights from linguists and philosophers to examine questions about time on the micro level of physical reality as well as time in language and discourse on the macro level of social reality The unifying theme is that in order to understand human time we have to discover not only how we think and speak about time but also what it is that makes us think and speak about it in a certain way Time, Tense, and Genre in Ancient Greek Literature, 2025-07-01 The 24 essays collected in this book address the complex interactions between concepts of time grammatical tense and type of genre of prose or poetry in ancient Greek literature The chronological scope stretches across nearly a millennium from archaic epic to the Second Sophistic from the emotional intensity of Homer to Plutarch and the playfulness of Lucian tracing patterns developments contrasts and intertextual allusiveness across diverse texts and authors These include dramatists Aeschylus Euripides Sophocles and Aristophanes philosophers Plato lyricists Alcman and Sappho ancient literary critics Dionysius of Halicarnassus orators whose lawcourt speeches were delivered literally against the clock in the form of the clepsydra Hellenistic poets Apollonius and Lycophron historiographers Herodotus and the fabulist Aesop The structure is informed by Greek philosophical categories exploring discrete metaphysical psychological aetiological and ethical ideas about temporality the collective project of the volume is to investigate how authors manipulated not only tenses but imagery moods and metres as well as generic conventions in shaping and articulating notions about orality literariness subjectivity immediacy presence futurity causation gender sexuality ethnography cosmology and remotest prehistory The result is a pioneering unique and multifaceted volume that throws light not only on the rich linguistic resources of the ancient Greek language in evoking time but on surprising interconnections between genres often studied in isolation
