Dust From The Ocean:

Dust in the Atmosphere Over the Atlantic Ocean R. V. Abramov, 1972 Colour and Light in the Ocean Victor Martinez-Vicente, Astrid Bracher, Didier Ramon, Shubha Sathyendranath, Tiit Kutser, 2020-03-26 CLEO publications in Frontiers in Marine Science Foreword Josef Aschbacher Director of ESA's Earth Observation Programmes Satellite data have drastically changed the view we have of the oceans Covering about 70% of Earth's surface oceans play a unique role for our planet and for our life but large areas remain unexplored and are difficult to reach Since the 1980s Earth orbiting satellites have helped to observe what is happening at the ocean surface Sensors like CZCS AVHRR SeaWiFS and MODIS provided the first ocean colour data from space Starting in 2002 ESA's Medium Resolution Imaging Spectrometer MERIS on board the environmental satellite Envisat provided detailed information on phytoplankton biomass and concentrations of other matter in the global oceans These satellite observations laid the groundwork for studying the marine environment and how it responds to climate change and the research community has since delivered information on the variability of marine ecosystems Part of this work is reflected in this stunning collection of peer reviewed publications presented at the workshop Colour and Light in the Ocean from Earth Observation CLEO held at ESA's ESRIN site in Frascati Italy on 6-8 September 2016 The event attracted more than 160 participants from all over the world including remote sensing experts marine ecosystem modelers in situ observers and users of Earth observation data Scientifically the meeting covered applications in climate studies over primary productivity and ocean dynamics to pools of carbon and phytoplankton diversity at global and regional scales It also demonstrated the potential of Earth observation and its contribution to modern oceanography Looking to the future new satellites developed by ESA under the coordination of the European Commission will further our scientific and operational observations of the seas With Sentinel 3A in orbit and its twin Sentinel 3B following in 2017 there is a new category of data available for operational oceanographic applications and climate studies for years to come These data are free and easy to access by anyone interested Looking at the role of oceans in our daily lives I am sure that this collection of scientific excellence will be valued by scientists of today and will inspire the next generation to carry these ideas into the future

Ocean-Atmosphere Interactions of Gases and Particles Peter S. Liss, Martin T. Johnson, 2013-12-18 The oceans and atmosphere interact through various processes including the transfer of momentum heat gases and particles In this book leading international experts come together to provide a state of the art account of these exchanges and their role in the Earth system with particular focus on gases and particles Chapters in the book cover i the ocean atmosphere exchange of short lived trace gases ii mechanisms and models of interfacial exchange including transfer velocity parameterisations iii ocean atmosphere exchange of the greenhouse gases carbon dioxide methane and nitrous oxide iv ocean atmosphere exchange of particles and v current and future data collection and synthesis efforts The scope of the book extends to the biogeochemical responses to emitted deposited material and interactions and feedbacks in the wider Earth system context

Role of the Southern Ocean in Atmospheric pCO₂ Change: Observations, Simulations and Paleorecords Zhifang Xiong, Di Qi, Xu Zhang, Thomas Algeo, Jun Zhao,2025-01-02 The Southern Ocean plays a key role in atmospheric CO₂ sequestration accounting for 40-50% of the anthropogenic CO₂ absorbed by the modern ocean The size of this sink is attributed to strong water mass sinking i.e. mode intermediate water and bottom water formation which transports carbon to the mid and deep ocean thus isolating it from the atmosphere for centuries The Southern Ocean also played a critical role in atmospheric pCO₂ variations in the geologic past on both orbital and millennial timescales Moreover the Southern Ocean modulates atmospheric and oceanic circulation in the tropics remotely influencing low latitude atmospheric CO₂ exchange Thus the Southern Ocean is a key component of the global climate system whose operation must be better understood at a range of timescales in order to accurately assess its effects on atmospheric pCO₂ in the future This Research Topic will consist of a set of cutting edge investigations of the processes and mechanisms of Southern Ocean influence on atmospheric pCO₂ and global climate change Catalog of Space Shuttle Earth Observations Hand-held Photography,1986 The Ocean Atmosphere and Life.
