

CHURCH LEADERSHIP STRUCTURE DIAGRAM

One of the main barriers to growth in a church is its structure. The key to success in growing a church is coming up with a well-maintained church organizational structure. Below is a sample structure diagram that organizes the church leadership roles and responsibilities.

PASTOR

A pastor is the leader of a church. The title "pastor" also refers to specific roles within a church. These roles typically include:

- Preaching and teaching during worship services
- Discipling believers one-on-one or in small groups
- Providing counseling

ELDER

- An elder is a church leader who serves within the church and its community
- They are to look out for the spiritual health of God's people and they do so by leading by example
- Additionally, they should be people of prayer and study scripture to help them understand how to guide others
- The responsibilities of elders vary depending on the size and needs of each church

DEACON

Deacons are responsible for assisting the pastor and elders in leading the congregation. This includes tasks such as:

- Caring for community members who are sick
- Welcoming visitors
- Serving communion
- Working with youth

CHAPLAIN

Chaplains work in places like hospitals, prisons, nursing homes and the military. These are places where people are often facing difficult times. As a chaplain, your job is to listen to them and help them understand their situation from a religious point of view.

BISHOP

- Bishops support the work of local pastors and congregations through their travels from church to church
- In the church, bishops help keep things running smoothly and make decisions about many things
- This includes preaching, giving out the sacraments, ensuring that people have faith and morals and teaching them about religion

MINISTER

A minister describes anyone who acts in service to others through prayer or by teaching about their faith. Ordained ministers are clergy who serve as leaders within their respective churches. Ministers can also be bishops and elders, should their church choose to ordain them.

ASSOCIATE PASTOR

An associate pastor is an ordained minister who serves in a church's executive or assistant leadership position. An associate pastor may take on many different roles in the church, including youth ministry, administration and outreach.

If you're unaware of how to make your church grow, consider looking into church leadership structure models.

It's not easy to alter a leadership structure, but it's necessary to accommodate the growth of the church.

Graham,2013 In this research I present an argument about why the incarnational and attractional approaches to urban church development are insufficient for growing a missional church in the city The changing nature of urban America requires ministers to be both pastors and missionaries in order to reach their city A pastor has the ability to shepherd the felt needs of the congregation and focus on leadership development and multiplication while a missionary has the ability to focus on contextualizing the gospel within the felt needs of the neighborhood Both approaches to leadership are necessary in order to plant healthy gospel centered ministries that multiply and bring new life to urban America The urban center of Washington DC was researched with a special eye toward the culture of the city and how different neighborhood leaders in a diverse set of fields are ministering to the needs of the poor while developing leadership The District Church serves as a case study of a church ministering in this context that seeks to incarnate the good news while emphasizing the multiplication of leaders and churches The findings about the social inequity and disparity of Washington DC as well as the survey findings from The District Church lead to a new approach to urban church development that does not fit neatly into an attractional or incarnational stream but is rather rooted in the missio Dei The historical missiological practices of proclamation hospitality and reconciliation help frame The District Church's mission in the next ten years in efforts to help people find their way back to God welcome strangers and bridge the two Washington DC's The District Church's approach to growing and multiplying the church does not fit easily into the traditional incarnational or attractional methods of growth and mission Rather it is an approach to missional church development that requires leaders to have a firm grasp of the adaptive challenges at hand while also maintaining a high sense of urgency around the church's unique role in seeking the renewal and restoration of the city

Church Leadership Lawrence O. Richards, Clyde Hoeldtke, 1988 As the body of Christ the church is basically an organism not an organization This fact is full of implications for the way the church organizes itself and the way leadership functions in the church No book on church leadership has become as controversial as this one Nor is there a book that spells out so clearly the scriptural implications of the present rule of Christ in the church and the calling of church leaders to be first of all servants This is must reading for pastors elders church staff members and students preparing for ministry in the church

The Leadership Factor Jay Duane Driver, 2021-08-17 The Leadership Factor Leadership Dynamics for the 21st Century Church provides a unique yet relative and much needed perspective on the challenges of the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ in the 21st century both universally and locally as it relates to individual congregations respectively It speaks directly and passionately to the urgency of the hour as the Church of our Lord awaits His imminent return At the heart of these challenges is the imperative for servant leadership There has been a seismic shift in what is needed and expected of the Church in these closing days of grace and to properly respond the church must deploy a new paradigm that incorporates strategies that will engage and focus its congregants on the need for servant leadership as well as how the stewardship level for servant leadership must extend to every born again believer The book is a comprehensive read easy to understand and it reaches the pastor and the pew the laity and the laborer the servant and the seeker The Leadership Factor meets each one at the point of their most direct level of spiritual maturity with full consideration of the clarion call to further ensure and solidify the role of servant leadership in meeting the holistic needs of the 21st century church
