Barriers Against Recovery

Frederick Arthur Simpson

Barriers Against Recovery:

Barriers to Asset Recovery, 2011-06-20 It is estimated that the proceeds of crime corruption and tax evasion represent between 1 trillion and 1.6 trillion per year with half coming from developing countries. Proceeds are typically transferred abroad and hidden in foreign jurisdictions thus requiring international cooperation. Various international conventions and agreements require international cooperation on this issue in particular the United Nations Convention against Corruption however only 5 billion in stolen assets have been repatriated over the last 15 years. This enormous gap reveals that significant barriers continue to impede asset recovery despite the commitments taken by governments civil society and the private sector. Drawing on the experience of practitioners with hands on experience the Stolen Asset Recovery StAR Initiative launched this study to identify the barriers to stolen asset recovery internationally provide brief analysis of the impact of these barriers and propose recommendations for overcoming these obstacles. This volume is intended to guide policy makers in their efforts to ensure necessary resources and the development of a plan policy or strategy aimed at eradicating the barriers to asset recovery. In addition this study proposes actions to be taken by the G20 international organizations financial institutions developmental agencies and civil society.

Barriers to Recovery from 'Psychosis' Prateeksha Sharma, 2022-09-20 This book inaugurates the field of Mad Studies in the Indian subcontinent investigating the barriers to recovery from the perspective of patients and caregivers. Offering a radical critique of the mental health system it questions why the phenomenon of recovery from serious mental health issues is not more widespread. Drawing from narratives of patients evidence from lived experiences around the globe and literature on recovery in psychiatry mental health legislations and policies it establishes the hitherto silenced voice of the patient as having testimonial viability via an emancipatory scholarship. It highlights the repeated marginalization of patients and the identity prejudice they experience in day to day situations as a form of epistemic violence. The book examines the barriers to recovery through an interdisciplinary investigation scrutinizing relationships between individuals and institutions at interpersonal intersocial and global levels. The book will be of interest to researchers and scholars of psychiatry psychology anthropology sociology disability studies Mad Studies law and policy cultural studies mental health medicine as well as general readers.

Partnering for Recovery in Mental Health Janis Tondora, Rebecca Miller, Mike Slade, Larry Davidson, 2014-05-19 Partnering for Recovery in Mental Health is a practical guide for conducting person and family centered recovery planning with individuals with serious mental illnesses and their families. It is derived from the authors extensive experience in articulating and implementing recovery oriented practice and has been tested with roughly 3 000 providers who work in the field as well as with numerous post graduate trainees in psychology social work nursing and psychiatric rehabilitation. It has consistently received highly favorable evaluations from health care professionals as well as people in recovery from mental illness. This guide represents a new clinical approach to the planning and delivery of mental health care. It emerges from the mental health recovery movement and has been developed in the process of the efforts to transform systems of care at the local regional and national levels to a recovery orientation It will be an extremely useful tool for planning care within the context of current health care reform efforts and increasingly useful in the future as systems of care become more person centered Consistent with other patient centered care planning approaches this book adapts this process specifically to meet the needs of persons with serious mental illnesses and their families Partnering for Recovery in Mental Health is an invaluable guide for any person involved directly or indirectly in the provision monitoring evaluation or use of community based mental health care
