

JACK AND JILL

BY MOTHER GOOSE

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To fetch a pail of water;
Jack fell down and broke his crown,
and Jill came tumbling after.

Up Jack got, and home did trot,
As fast as he could caper,
To old Dame Dob, who patched his nob
With vinegar and brown paper.

Writing Simple Poems Vicki L.

Holmes, Margaret R. Moulton, 2001-07-16 Writing Simple Poems is a resource book that shows teachers how to use poetry writing to teach grammar and writing conventions. Appropriate for any age or fluency level, the book can be used by ESL, foreign language, or bilingual teachers as an adjunct to their writing program. Regular classroom teachers will find it useful for language arts. The first part of the book focuses on methodology and offers suggestions for ways to integrate poetry writing with the curriculum. The second part of the book contains twenty-five easy-to-follow lesson plans, each with poetry models and sample poems written by students of various ages and linguistic backgrounds. The third part of the book offers an index of teaching points and a glossary of grammar terms.

Easy Roland Flint, 1999-03-01 Roland Flint beckons in a voice inclusive and reassuring to come see the everyday world. In Easy, Flint speaks of gratitude for whatever is good, true, and simple, though one suspects such gratitude is not simply or easily acquired. There is a gentleness, if not always in the subjects of these poems, then in their telling and in their reception. What is laughter to cure cancer or to surprise a darkness like grief, so that you guiltily clap your mouth? Haha! If the colors of spring are no brighter as to Williams's widow, they are no less bright or fine to me despite my sorrowing seeing them you are gone. Tom Flint's fluid penetration of diverse people and matters: manual laborers, the next-door neighbor teaching his son to ride a bike, Allen Tate cooking, gardening, marriage, popular culture, the link rivalry between laughter and sex, poetry itself does not descend to the mysterious, difficult, or esoteric, people and life pure and simple, yield bald-faced truths and exquisite riches of insight enough. In the title poem, the dancelike synchronizations of a middle-aged couple preparing dinner together reveal a comfortableness with and practiced knowledge of each other. They may, during dinner, Flint writes, hold hands a moment almost like a handshake, by now most friendly, confirming the contract. She is a pretty woman of 51 who has kept herself trim and fit. He is 56 and hasn't. They will talk a long time of many things, including how easy it is the times like this when it's simple. Implied, of course, are darker, conflicted times that make such acceptance and appreciation real. Flint's welcome message is that the flipside of timeworn is smooth. In Flower, mockery turns to self-mocking as the poet describes civic club businessmen whose business is to aluminize anything, even a rose, which is sort of what you did right back for a fat fee at the Rotary lunch. Bootlegging poetry in by limerick from innocent suggestives to the bawdily ambiguous to a fully aluminized rose. Flint's Prayer, though, offers thanks for eagerness. Almost daily to greet the drone. With words bequeathed in part. By what poets before have done. He prays to be among them, one. However small. The work is all Easy is a marvelous work, lyrical gems of honest and wry delight in what we mistake as commonplace.

The Middle English Lyric and Short Poem Rosemary Greentree, 2001. This Bibliography assembles annotation of collections and criticism of lyrics of religious and secular love carols and songs and rhymes of everyday life. The Middle English lyrics and short poems form a varied group that ranges over most aspects of life to include lyrics of religious and secular love carols and songs and mundane rhymes of everyday life Thus there are expressions of devotion ethereal or earthly theological expositions and knowledge needed for life The poems are disparate and generally anonymous and their survival owes much to chance The bibliography assembles neutral annotation of collections and criticism of the works arranged chronologically to show the course of criticism and the growing appreciation of these poems and all they can tell us The introduction considers these matters problems of definition of the genre and the isolable lyrics and seeks to reconcile some first impressions of the poems as disparate and slight with the rewards of close study ROSEMARY GREENTREE is currently Visiting Research Fellow Dept of English University of Adelaide
