Intentions in Great Power Politics Sebastian Rosato,2021-04-20 Why the future of great power politics is likely to resemble its dismal past Can great powers be confident that their peers have benign intentions States that trust each other can live at peace those that mistrust each other are doomed to compete for arms and allies and may even go to war Sebastian Rosato explains that states routinely lack the kind of information they need to be convinced that their rivals mean them no harm Even in cases that supposedly involved mutual trust Germany and Russia in the Bismarck era Britain and the United States during the great rapprochement France and Germany and Japan and the United States in the early interwar period and the Soviet Union and United States at the end of the Cold War the protagonists mistrusted each other and struggled for advantage Rosato argues that the ramifications of his argument for U S China relations are profound the future of great power politics is likely to resemble its dismal past Thom's Official Directory of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the Year ... ,1901

The Legacy Report Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Select Committee on Science and Technology,2010 Following a two year absence the Science and Technology Committee was re formed in October 2009 to conduct cross departmental scrutiny of science and technology This report summarises the Committee s work of this session It also reviews the historical landscape of science scrutiny in Parliament across the work of predecessor committees and documents the impacts they have had on policy and the culture of scientific debate within Westminster The Committee highlight several inquiries and reports that have had significant impact in informing legislative decisions and holding government to the standard of evidence based policy making

Eviction Jessica Field,2025-09-16 Grounded in personal experience Eviction uncovers a hidden history of housing injustice and working class resistance in what has become a perennial battleground for social conflict in modern Britain In 2017 Jessica Field s parents and more than a hundred of their neighbours received warning of imminent eviction Their corporate landlord intended to demolish their affordable privately rented homes to replace them with middle class houses for sale Led by the women of the estate tenants launched an anti eviction campaign to save their close knit community from destruction The neighbourhood was the last remnant of a 1950s National Coal Board estate constructed to house local miners When the coal industry declined in the 1970s whole estates were auctioned off to speculators Low income tenants were at the mercy of global investors Houses were left to rot Rents soared Tenants were exploited every step of the way Yet time and again tenant activists especially women fought back Eviction is a history of the British housing crisis in microcosm Journal of the Royal Horticultural Society of London Royal Horticultural Society (Great Britain),1926 Vols for 1869 1952 include Extracts from the proceedings of the Royal Horticultural Society

Does God Believe in Human Rights? Nazila Ghanea-Hercock,Alan Stephens,Ralph Walden,2007-02-28 Where can religions find sources of legitimacy for human rights How do and how should religious leaders and communities respond to human rights as defined in modern

International Law When religious precepts contradict human rights standards for example in relation to freedom of expression or in relation to punishments which should trump the other and why Can human rights and religious teachings be interpreted in a manner which brings reconciliation closer Do the modern concept and system of human rights undermine the very vision of society that religions aim to impart Is a reference to God in the discussion of human rights misplaced Do human fallibilities with respect to interpretation judicial reasoning and the understanding of human oneness and dignity provide the key to the undeniable and sometimes devastating conflicts that have arisen between and within religions and the human rights movement In this volume academics and lawyers tackle these most difficult questions head on with candour and creativity and the collection is rendered unique by the further contributions of a remarkable range of other professionals including senior religious leaders and representatives journalists diplomats and civil servants both national and international Most notably the contributors do not shy away from the boldest question of all summed up in the book s title The thoroughly edited and revised papers which make up this collection were originally prepared for a ground breaking conference organised by the Clemens Nathan Research Centre the University of London Institute of Commonwealth Studies and Martinus Nijhoff Brill
